Rhee Says He Has Written Assurances From US That Full Agreement Possible

SEOUL, Sunday, Aug. 14.—P—South Korea's red-hating 80-year-old President last night urged his 20,000,000 countrymen to cease demonstrations that brought violent clashes with U. S. soldiers. He said he had written assurances from the United States that the purpose of the demonstrations can be accomplished peacefully.

The purpose was to have the five teams of four-nation truce inspectors get out of South Korea, particularly the Communist Poles and Czechs because of alleged spying activities.

President Syngman Rhee had set last midnight as a deadline for the teams to get out but at the last minute he announced an indefinite postponement.

During violence which had flared for a week preceding the deadline, one South Korean was killed, and about 100 Koreans and 44 U. S. soldiers were injured. The clashes occurred at compounds housing the truce teams, also made up of Swiss and Swedes.

Rhee said that Walter Robertson, assistant U. S. secretary of state, told You Chan Yang, Korean ambassador to Washington, that the U. S. government "will make efforts soon" to seek peaceful removal of the Neutral Nations Supervisory Commission from Korea. Rhee said the assurance came in a letter addressed to him and turned over to Yang.

Observers who know Rhee's ways said he apparently just needed a diplomatic excuse for ending the crisis. Actually the commitment Rhee said was obtained from Robertson was no different from one given Rhee a year ago by U. S. Secretary of State Dulles after similar demonstrations.

One high-placed U. S. official in Seoul said:

"Perhaps what Rhee has done this weekend is as good an example as any to shatter the myth that U. S. officials constantly underestimate the fiery Korean."

By that, he meant only once has the United States been caught off guard by its Korean ally—when Rhee released 27,000 war prisoners in 1953 and almost wrecked last-minute armistice negotiations.

Since then, South Korea always has had to back down in disputes over threats to renew the war, over aid funds, over the hwan-dollar exchange rate, over U. S. troop withdrawals and over threats to violate the armistice.

MoPac Will Proceed With Improvements Despite Tax Change

ST. LOUIS, Aug. 13.—P—The Missouri Pacific Railroad will go ahead with $3,973,550 in planned improvements despite the government's suspension of its rapid tax write-off program, a spokesman for the line said Saturday.

MoPac's request for five-year amortization of the improvements for tax purposes will be reviewed by the government during the suspension period.

The railroad spokesman said, however, the improvements will be completed regardless of the final ruling on the railroad's application for tax benefit exemptions.

The railroad plans to spend $7,482,150 for 1,000 new freight cars and $1,491,400 for a line change and grade revision near Chester, Ill.

Swiss Bus Crash Kills At Least 25 Persons

BOURG ST. PIERRE, Switzerland, Aug. 13.—P—A bus filled with French vacationers plunged 100 feet over a precipice into a river today near St. Bernard's monastery and its famed dog kennels. At least 25 persons were killed.

A Chance to Vote

Now comes the debates about whether the windows should be left open or closed at night, since the chill air elates some and makes others shiver. Still, it's nice to have a choice.

Fair Sunday, a little warmer west, highs 85-90; Monday fair.

The temperature one year ago today: high 93, low 70, with .01 inch of rain; two years ago, high 98, low 64; and three years ago, high 83, low 67, with .61 inch of rain.

The temperature Saturday was 67 at 7 a.m. and 83 at 1 p.m. Stage at Lake of the Ozarks Saturday, 57.0. Steady.

They Cite 1948 Election—

Politicians Expect Declining Farm Income to Trouble GOP

By OVID A. MARTIN
Associated Press Farm Reporter
WASHINGTON, Aug. 13.—P—Some politicians with an eye on next year's presidential election are expecting a declining level of farm prices and income to cause the Republicans a lot of trouble.

In attaching political significance to the farm situation, they point to many past elections in which unhappy farmers—by holding a balance of power in key states—were able to swing the results one way or the other.

They cite the 1948 election, when President Harry S. Truman won an upset victory over New York Gov. Thomas E. Dewey largely on the basis of Midwestern farm votes.

Just how seriously farm price declines have affected farm living standards is a question—particularly the standards in states where the farm votes could figure prominently in the 1956 election.

The Agriculture Department has just completed a study of farm living standards. It raises the suggestion that it might be hazardous to generalize on how farmers' economic status might affect next year's voting.

The study ranked the farm living standards on the basis of (1) the percentage of farms with electricity in each state, (2) the percentage with telephones, (3) the percentage with automobiles and (4) the purchasing power of farm products sold from the average farm in the area.

The department said that while this is not the only way to measure how well farmers live, it is a "practical method" of indicating the general improvement made, both for particular areas and for the country as a whole.

Before going into the picture of the standards of living of farmers in particular states, it should be recognized that for the country as a whole, levels of living for farm operator families have gone up more than one third in the past 10 years. At least that is what the department survey shows.

The rate of increase has slackened somewhat since 1950—a period marked by readjustments from high wartime demands for farm products—but not at the same rate for all areas.

The part of the survey which carries political significance is the picture painted of living standards in key states where the farm vote in the past has played major roles in election outcomes.

Those states include Illinois, Ohio, Indiana, Iowa, Michigan, Wisconsin and Minnesota.

In no other seven agricultural states is the farm living standard as high as it is there.

The survey ranks the states as to whether they are in the highest fifth, next to the high fifth, the middle fifth, next to the lowest fifth and the lowest fifth.

Boonville Man Hurt In One-Car Mishap Saturday

Estil Kempf, 21, Boonville, was painfully injured about 5:15 p.m. Saturday in an accident on Cooper County Route C, two and a half miles north of U. S. Highway 30. The road goes to Pilot Grove.

According to information regarding the wreck, Kempf was driving alone in his car and lost control of the machine on the gravel road. The car overturned and was badly wrecked.

Kempf was rushed to the Bothwell Hospital in the Ewing ambulance where Dr. A. L. Lowe rendered medical treatment. It was believed the injured man was suffering a compression of a vertebrae and was admitted to the hospital for observation.

Reserve Program Hastened

Eisenhower Clears Way for Starting It This October, Starting Plans Now

WASHINGTON, Aug. 13.—P—President Eisenhower cleared the way today for an October start on training American youths for a strengthened military reserve.

An executive order authorized the Army and Marine Corps to go ahead immediately with plans for giving six months active training to youths 17 to 18½ years of age who then would serve another 7½ years in the active reserve. They would volunteer and would be exempt from the draft.

He approved quotas of 90,000 men for the Army and 5,500 for the Marines under the program between now and next June 30. The special training corps is the newest of a series of steps established to strengthen the reserve in a new law Eisenhower signed earlier this week.

"No time should be lost in moving toward the goal of stronger reserves as rapidly as the new law permits," the President said and added, in what amounted to an appeal for enlistments:

"It is my sincere hope that young Americans will respond to this volunteer program in such measures as to insure its success." The law authorizes the special training for between 100,000 and 250,000 a year.

The Army said earlier it hoped to start the program in October with between 5,000 and 10,000 men in the first group of trainees. Monthly quotas will increase to 12,000 in February and March.

No quotas were fixed for the Navy and Air Force.

The six-month trainees will receive $50 a month, compared with the $78 monthly pay of a drafted private. After their initial training is completed, they must participate in the equivalent of 48 weekly drills and a two-week summer encampment each year with their active reserve units.

Failure to meet these requirements will make them liable for two years of active service under the regular draft laws.

Most Reunions Are Happy Ones For US Fliers

By The Associated Press

Tearful embraces and happy smiles marked most reunions yesterday as 11 U. S. fliers returned to their homes after 32 months of captivity in Red China.

Three big Air Force planes carried all but one of the airmen on the last lap of the journey to their wives and families.

For airman Daniel C. Schmidt, who was not aboard any of the planes, the homecoming was not so happy. He held a lengthy meeting in an attorney's office in Nevada City, Calif., Friday night with his wife, Una, 20, who says she married another man while he was imprisoned in China.

The 22-year-old airman didn't learn until he reached Manila on the way home that she had taken another mate. A source close to the two said Schmidt wants his wife to return, but she feels differently.

The airman, however, denied reports that she would remain with her second husband. He said he was "determined to get this marital situation straightened out."

Five Firemen Need Hospital Treatment After Fighting Blaze

ST. LOUIS, Aug. 13.—P—Five firemen needed hospital treatment today after fighting a three-alarm blaze at a one-story frame warehouse.

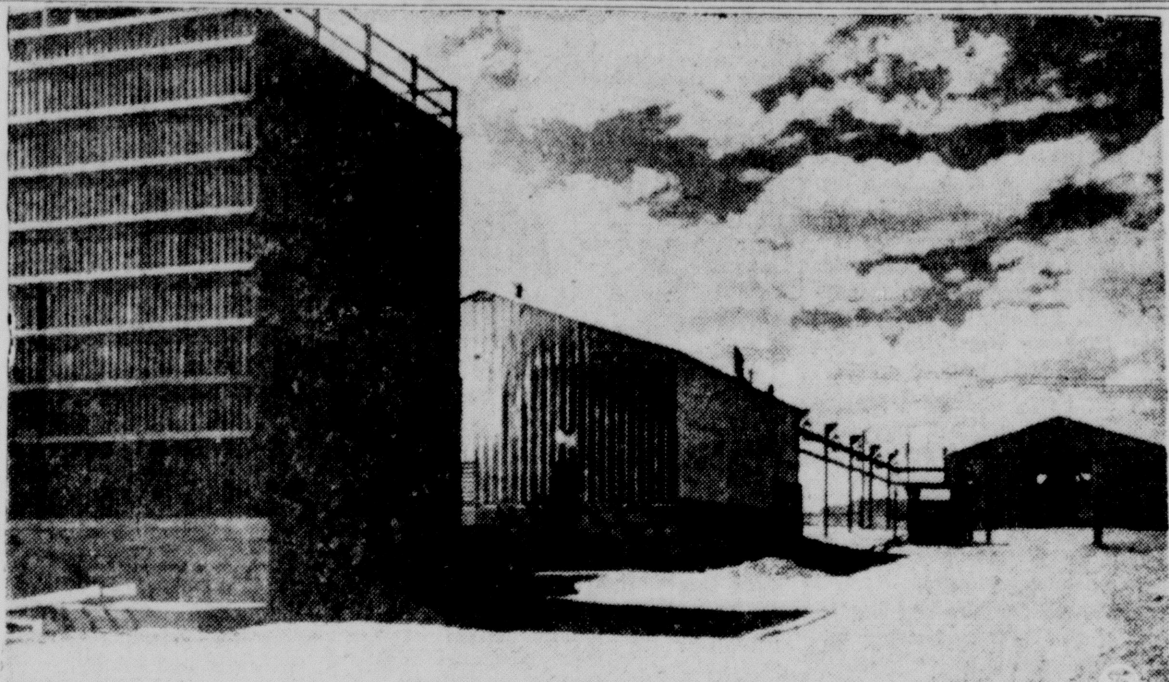

Fire Chief Hugh Lyon estimated damage to the building and contents at $13,000. Chief Lyon said he thought four of the firemen breathed sulphuric acid (fumes) while the other suffered a toe injury.

The fire was brought under control in about 30 minutes.

St. Louis Barbers Urge $1.75 Haircuts

ST. LOUIS, Aug. 13.—P—The price of haircuts in St. Louis might take another 25 cent jump next week.

The proposed boost from $1.50 to $1.75 will be presented in resolution form to Local 102 of the AFL Journeymen Barbers' International Union at a Wednesday meeting. Backers of the move said the main reason for the proposal is the international's new health and welfare fund which will cost members an additional $3 a week. Wage increases for other unions and the rising cost of living also were cited as other reasons for the proposal.

BY THE LIGHT OF NUCLEAR ENERGY—Electricity, produced from nuclear energy, was used for more than one hour to light and power the town of Arco, Idaho, the first community to be lighted exclusively on a city-wide basis by nuclear power. The electricity was produced from atomic energy by "Borax," an experimental boiling water nuclear power plant operated at the AEC's National Reactor Testing Station. The Borax reactor installation is shown above. Left to right: cooling tower used for dissipating energy from the reactor, turbo-generator building, steam line and reactor building. (NEA Telephoto)

Armed Band Raids Depot For Weapons

Irish Outlaws Use British Uniforms; Three Men Caught

READING, England, Aug. 13.—P—A heavily armed band from the outlawed Irish Republican Army executed a daring raid today on a military arms depot only 40 miles from the heart of London. It escaped with more than 100 guns and 200,000 rounds of ammunition.

Scotland Yard rushed guards to all ports and airfields with a warning: "These men are desperate. They will fight for their lives. They will try to reach Ireland."

Swooping on a British army barracks at Arborfield, the IRA men overpowered the guards and made a getaway with their loot. Some of the raiders—believed to number about 20—were dressed in British army uniforms. They handled roughly the guards who tried to resist and told them at point of pistols:

"Consider yourselves prisoners of war." Within two hours after the raid, a police patrol car chased a truck along a country road and caught two men who jumped out and tried to run away. The truck was loaded with ammunition.

A third man was taken into custody in London tonight. All three were shortly arraigned in suburban Wokingham. Joseph Doyle and Donald Murphy, who were in the truck, were charged with stealing firearms and ammunition. James Andrew Mary Murphy, was charged with conspiring with them.

Asked by the magistrate if he had anything to say the men shook their heads. They were taken away and locked up in guarded cells.

Capture of the truck did not account for all the stolen ammunition. The 2 a.m. raid touched off fresh fears of the terrorism that plagued Britain before World War II, when fanatical Irish Nationalists were blamed for planting time bombs in key spots in the capital.

The IRA is an underground organization—branded illegal in the Irish Republic as well as Britain—pledged to fight for the unification of all Ireland. IRA headquarters are believed somewhere in ULSTER—the six counties in North Ireland which are part of the United Kingdom.

The IRA is a large-scale project, designed to produce 223,000 kilowatt hours of electricity. Gast called it a plant "of broad potential application" and said it is "capable of producing electrical power at an economically competitive level in many parts of the world."

He estimated it could turn out electricity that could sell for less than seven mills a kilowatt hour and still make a profit.

Russian scientists, after listening to the reports, said some Soviet designs were remarkably similar in design to the General Electric plant.

Is Silent on Importance—

Ohio Demos May Back State's Governor As a Favorite Son

CHICAGO, Aug. 13.—P—Gov. Frank Lausche of Ohio said today he may be a favorite son candidate for the democratic Presidential nomination, but did not indicate whether such a move would offer a serious challenge to Adlai Stevenson and other potential contenders.

Lausche, serving his fifth term, said an interview before leaving the 47th annual governors' conference that he has made no decision on a possible Senate race next year.

But he added: "I may be a favorite son candidate in Ohio."

Lausche, 59 and a Roman Catholic, has drawn mention as a possible presidential aspirant. He has shrugged off such suggestions in the past.

At the governors' conference, Gov. Allan Shivers of Texas, a 1952 ticket holder, said he thought southern democrats who are opposed to the renomination of Stevenson would look with favor on Lausche as a candidate for the nomination.

US Scientists Give Details On A-Plants

GENEVA, Aug. 13.—P—Two American scientists gave the atom-for-peace conference detailed reports today on newly designed atomic power plants which they claim can produce electricity eventually on a paying basis.

Neither of the projects has yet gone beyond the planning stage but the designers of both expressed confidence that, once in operation, they will be able to compete with the prices of coal-produced power in some areas.

Clark Williams of Brookhaven National Laboratory, N. Y., described plans for what is technically known as a "liquid metal fuel reactor" designed to produce 210,000 kilowatts of electricity. He estimated this plant would be able to turn out electricity at a cost of 7.8 mills per kilowatt hour.

The cost of conventional power in the United States averages from four to seven mills a kilowatt, depending on distance from the source of fuel. In many parts of the world, power production costs considerably more.

No atomic power station now in operation comes anywhere near the level mentioned by Williams.

The conference also heard a report from P. F. Gast of the engineering department of General Electric's Hanford, Wash., atomic production operation, who read a paper giving full details of a proposed "graphite moderated nuclear power plant."

This also is a large-scale project, designed to produce 223,000 kilowatt hours of electricity. Gast called it a plant "of broad potential application" and said it is "capable of producing electrical power at an economically competitive level in many parts of the world."

He estimated it could turn out electricity that could sell for less than seven mills a kilowatt hour and still make a profit.

Russian scientists, after listening to the reports, said some Soviet designs were remarkably similar in design to the General Electric plant.

Wind Sidelash Has New York At Standstill

Flooded Cellars Are Commonplace; Rain Dims Lights, Confusing Drivers

NEW YORK, Aug. 13.—P—The sidelash of Hurricane Connie brought bustling metropolitan New York to a standstill today with high velocity winds and virtually a foot of rain.

Storm deaths numbered 11. All forms of traffic—automobiles, trains, airplanes, ferriesboats and even the subway—were disrupted to varying degrees. Flooded cellars were commonplace.

But skies began to clear over the bedraggled area in the afternoon. The Weather Bureau promised fair weather tomorrow.

"We're very glad she is over with," Ernest J. Christie, New York Weather Bureau chief, said of Connie. "She was a very eccentric girl."

The Weather Bureau recorded gusts of wind up to 67 miles an hour today and measured 11.37 inches of rain since the swirling skirts of Connie first touched here Thursday night.

The Weather Bureau at Idlewild Airport, within New York City limits, said 13 inches of rain fell there from 12:01 a.m. yesterday until noon today.

The storm darkened traffic lights on New York's Fifth Avenue, confusing the few motorists and cab drivers who braved the elements.

Manhattan's normally crowded streets were hardly more populated than country lanes at the height of the storm as tourists and natives kept to their hotels and apartments.

The storm deaths stemmed from automobile accidents in blinding, windswept rain; electrocutions from short circuits, and drownings.

Toppled trees and wires and flooded underground circuits cut off electricity for more than 165,000 customers in New York City alone. Thousands of wires in the city were down.

Emergency crews, sometimes rowing through water covered streets in rowboats, were restoring service.

Scores of flooded highways and streets reduced automobile travel to a baffling adventure in getting from one place to another.

Highways were dotted with stranded vehicles, some with water up to their roofs.

Ike Gets Light Demo Support On His Proposals

WASHINGTON, Aug. 13.—P—Sen. Bridges (R-NH) said today President Eisenhower "got only lukewarm support from Democrats on his domestic proposals" in the recent Senate session.

Bridges, chairman of the Senate Republican Policy Committee, offered this comment as he made public an analysis of 87 record Senate rollcalls.

He said 40 of these involved domestic proposals by the President, and on these a majority of the 47 Republican senators backed Eisenhower 37 times while a majority of the 49 Democrats opposed 23 times.

"Republicans were 92½ per cent strong for the President's domestic policies: Democrats, only 45 per cent," he said.

The study by the staff of the GOP strategy group appeared to be a bid to the public to return congressional control to Republicans in next year's elections.

When both domestic and foreign issues were counted in the GOP study, Bridges said Republicans supported the President 82 of 87 times or 94 per cent and Democrats 61 of 87, 70 per cent.

Bridges said this means "a majority of Senate Democrats voted against Mr. Eisenhower almost one third of the time."

Connie Finishes Journey

Dwindles to Medium Size, With More Water Than Wind; Damage in Millions

LANCASTER, Pa., Aug. 13.—P—Hurricane Connie, dumping record rains, dwindled to a medium size storm today at the finish of a frightening nine-day journey from the Caribbean.

She seemed destined to be recorded in weather annals as the storm that was more water than wind.

New Yorkers bailed out basements and sloshed through record rainfall. So did Philadelphia, Baltimore, Washington and Richmond. All along the Atlantic Seaboard it was the same story:

Enormous rains pouring down from the front edges of the big hurricane produced local flooding, heavy damage in spots. Rivers swelled. Creeks overflowed. Streets and highways became lakes in spots as overtaxed storm sewers failed to funnel away the rush of water.

Damage totalled millions of dollars. In North Carolina, hardest-hit by the big blow as Connie swept inland, estimates ranged upwards from four million dollars and Gov. Luther Hodges appealed for federal classification as a disaster area to speed rehabilitation.

The accident toll in the Middle Atlantic region reached 38 dead and 5 missing, nearly all of them casualties in water accidents or on rain-soaked roads.

New York listed 11 dead; Pennsylvania 6 dead and 1 missing; New Jersey 6 dead and 2 missing at sea; District of Columbia 4 dead.

Maryland's casualties were from the worst tragedy of the storm, a yachting accident in Chesapeake Bay with 11 dead and 3 missing of 27 persons aboard a schooner that capsized.

Pouring rains rode the front edges of the hurricane, ranging up to 300 miles ahead and to the northeast of the storm center.

In New York it was almost like the rains that soak the tropics. Water up to a foot deep blanketed La Guardia Airport this morning and also forced a halt to flight operations at Idlewild Airport. The rainfall total was reported as "in excess of 11 inches" in a 32-hour period, breaking all previous records for the big city.

In nearby New Jersey it was the same story of torrential downpours and strong winds battering cities, countryside and beach resorts. At worst an estimated 138,000 homes in the state had no electric power before repair crews began catching up with the storm damage.

Pennsylvania was soaked, too, but in rural areas the water was more help than hindrance. A downpour that totalled 4.38 inches in Philadelphia within 24 hours erased previous records and at the same time broke the back of the worst drought in recent years.

Weather Bureau reports listed 3.35 inches of rainfall overnight in Baltimore, 8.09 in Richmond, and 6.38 in Washington.

Woman Who 'Couldn't Live,' Reaches 100

WEST CROYDON, England, Aug. 13.—P—Ninety years ago doctors told the parents of Elizabeth Harriet Collins she'd never live to be 21. She celebrated her 100th birthday today.

Surrounded by relatives, she read a telegram of congratulations from Queen Elizabeth II.

She said that after considerable sickness as a child she's never been ill since she was 21.

Distress Signal Flies Four Hours

ST. LOUIS, Aug. 13.—P—The International distress signal—an upside-down flag—flew over the St. Louis county courthouse in suburban Clayton today.

The error was corrected four hours after the flag-raising when someone called it to the attention of Albert Dauster, superintendent of buildings.

A-Scientists Seek Missile For Cancer

By FRANK CAREY
AP Science Reporter
GENEVA (AP)—Atomic scientists are trying to develop a kind of guided missile against cancer. They are searching for substances which would "home" on cancer when injected into the blood stream and carry with them a radioactive weapon to fight the malignancy.

This campaign was outlined today at the 72-nation atoms-for-peace conference by Dr. W. F. Bale and Dr. L. L. Spar, of the University of Rochester at Rochester, N. Y.

Such a technique, they said, would direct the powerful rays of radioactive material only against the cancer without harming surrounding tissue. And radioactive material attached to the "homing" missile would stay put, they added. The researchers said they are working on the theory that various tissues and organs of the human and animal body have within them specific chemical antibodies to help protect those areas against disease.

They said it might be possible to isolate these antibodies and use them as carriers of radioactive substances to particular areas of the body. Under this theory, a kidney antibody might be used to carry radiation ammunition against a kidney cancer or a stomach antibody might transmit to a stomach cancer.

The Americans reported that so far they have experimented only with animals.

They attracted material from rabbit kidneys, mixing it with radioactive iodine. Injected into other rabbits, the mixture tended to become localized in the kidneys. Three days after the injection more than 10 per cent of the originally injected iodine was found in the kidneys, they reported.

Commanders Have Talk Over Highway Safety

Col. Charles V. Neal, Sedalia Air Force Base, commander, and Col. Richard C. Neeley, deputy commander of the 340th Bomb Wing at the base, met with members of the safety committee of the Chamber of Commerce Thursday afternoon to map out a program to cut the number of road accidents by base personnel.

Attending were Emory Bowman, Jack Faber and Peter Potter, along with Sgt. E. W. Van Winkle of the Highway Patrol and Police Chief Edgar Neighbors.

The Air Force officers explained that during the first six months of this year, SAFB had one of the worst ground accident rates in the Strategic Air Command for an installation of its size. This is in contrast to a perfect record for safety on the base itself.

The committee informed the officers of the new magistrate law which becomes effective Aug. 29 and which strengthens a magistrate's powers in clamping down on traffic violators.

Then other possible steps were suggested and these are to be considered by the commanders before a definite program is set up. It was pointed out by Bowman that although SAFB is attempting to assist in the safety of its personnel by such measures, that civilian violations far outnumber violations by servicemen and that the civilians need seriously to examine their own conscience.

Names 'Undesirable' Varieties of Wheat Which Will Be Docked

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Agriculture Department Friday announced 23 "undesirable" varieties of wheat which will be docked 20 cents a bushel under the grower price support program.

The varieties, considered of inferior milling or baking quality, will be docked to encourage production of better wheat.

To obtain a $1.81 a bushel average support rate for the crop, a minor upward adjustment in the rate for other varieties will be made, the department said.

The classes of undesirables include these grown in both Missouri and Kansas:

Red Chief, and Kankawale varieties of hard red winter wheat, and Kankawale variety of soft red winter wheat.

Those grown in Kansas: Red Jacket, Chiefkan, Stafford, Early Pawnee, Selection 33, Early Blackhawk, New Chief and Yogo varieties of hard red winter wheat.

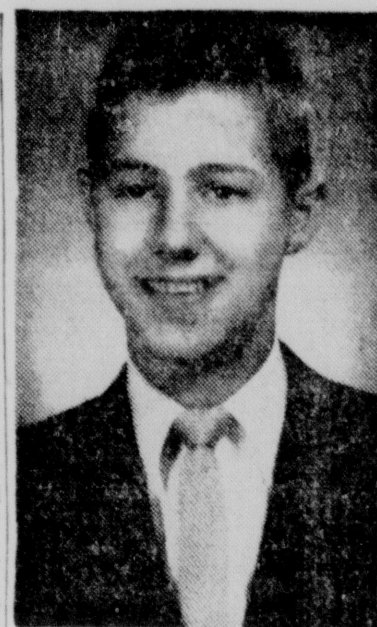

Kanquene variety of hard red winter wheat grown in Missouri also is considered undesirable.

19th Annual Ozark Empire Fair Opens

SPRINGFIELD, Mo. (AP)—The 19th annual Ozark Empire Fair opened today with 5,943 exhibits entered, an all-time record.

G. B. Boyd, secretary-manager, said a record attendance of 200,000 is expected for the fair, which runs through Aug. 19. In past years the attendance has ranged from 175,000 to 195,000.

Five state dairy cattle shows and the state poultry show will be included in the program.

State Gets $661,848 Under Polio Aid Law Signed by President

WASHINGTON (AP)—Missouri will get $661,848 and Kansas $361,222 under the 30 million dollar polio vaccine aid law signed Friday by President Eisenhower.

Congress provided that the money can be used only to vaccinate pregnant women and children under 20.

The law directed the U. S. Public Health Service to allocate the 30 million under a formula involving the number of unvaccinated children and pregnant women in each state, the relative per capita income of the state, and the per capita cost of vaccine.

Each state governor has been asked to name a single agency to handle the program in the state. The agency must submit a plan to the Public Health Service.

The money is to be used by Feb. 15, 1956.

Praises Social Security For Fine Progress

Marion B. Folsom, newly appointed secretary of health, education and welfare says that the people of the United States can take just pride in the substantial progress which has been made in Social Security. According to the secretary, this act provides the basic protection against economic adversity.

"The combined protective forces of individual self-reliance, the private company thrift and pension plans and the Federal social security program now go far toward assuring the economic and social independence of American families. These forces help prevent or alleviate dependency and its train of hardships, afford better opportunities for the nation's children, and help sustain the general welfare of our people."

Briefly outlining the functions of the Social Security program, Mrs. Folsom says that it illustrates the relation of the government to the well-being of the individuals, and provides a program stimulating individual thrift and initiative — it does not replace them. She says that Social Security is a series of partnerships between the federal government, states and lower levels and they all share the credit for its success.

In 1934 amendments to the act liberalized the benefits and extended the coverage of old-age and survivors insurance. "We of the department are constantly studying the program to meet additional needs as they develop," she says.

According to Folsom, the good progress of the past suggests that more progress, fully consonant with traditions and ideals, will be made in the future.

Murder Suspect Taken From Louisiana, Mo.

LOUISIANA, Mo. — Pike County Prosecuting Atty. Frank K. Haley says Gilbert Stewart, 22, accused of killing an 18-year-old girl who refused to marry him, has been moved from here because of the bitter feeling of Louisiana residents.

Letta Scranton was shot four times Wednesday night in front of her home and died here Thursday. Stewart, who also shot himself, had been a patient in the Pike County Memorial Hospital.

Stewart and Miss Scranton had dated about three weeks. Haley said Stewart "shot the girl when she told him she changed her mind about her love for him."

Flyer Rejoins Family After Imprisonment

ST. PAUL, Minn. — Sgt. Howard Brown, home at last after 2½ years as a Chinese Red prisoner, swept up his parents and fiancée in one huge embrace when he arrived Friday at the St. Paul-Minneapolis Airport.

All were choked with emotion to say anything as the airman held the three tightly for about two minutes. About 1,000 well wishers, many of them men from an airbase, silently looked on.

Miss Toni Palermo, the sergeant's fiancée, trembled noticeably as she stood between Brown's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Brown, an arm around each, waiting for the plane to taxi up.

When the plane stopped and the door opened, several persons shouted: "Here he comes!" as Sgt. Brown, first off the plane, came down the steps.

He ran about 40 feet to his parents and Miss Palermo and threw his arms around all three. All sobbed as Brown held them. No words were spoken.

After the family greeting, Airman Steve E. Kiba Jr. and Airman John W. Thompson II, others of the 11 airmen who were shot down in January 1953 with Brown and captured, got off the plane. Brown introduced them to his fiancée and his family.

Three big limousines took the Browns to St. Paul for a family reunion.

Like Russian Army Reduction Program

LONDON. — Russia's announced intent to cut her armed forces by 640,000 men was welcomed in Western Europe today as a step in the right direction. Mixed with this first reaction, however, were cautions against placing too much emphasis on the reduction.

British newspapers treated the Moscow announcement as a "surprise move," but there was no immediate comment from British officials.

Still a mystery is the exact size of the Soviet army forces at the present time.

Diplomatic sources here felt this would have to be taken into account in any evaluation of the Soviet move.

MOREHEAD CITY, N.C. — Hugh D. Via Jr., of Ashland, Va., went home Friday night happy that he had witnessed hurricane Connie from a ringside seat.

Via told State Highway Patrolman J. W. Sykes he had gone to Virginia Beach, Va., hoping to catch Connie there; then he hustled to Nags Head, N.C., when he was told the storm was expected to strike there. He finally ended up at Atlantic Beach.

"I like hurricanes," he told Sykes when police found him yesterday.

Steelworkers Agree On Two Year Contract

NEW YORK, Aug. 13 (AP)—The CIO United Steelworkers of America today agreed on a two-year contract with the American Can Co. and the Continental Can Co. providing a layoff pay plan that extends for a full year.

The contract, reached in quiet negotiations six weeks before the old contract expires, also provides an average 13-cents an hour wage increase for the 25,000 workers involved.

The total cost of the package, including the layoff pay plan, improved pensions and other benefits, is 21½ cents an hour.

Under the old contract, wages at American Can ranged from $1.70 to $2.45 an hour. Continental Can wages were slightly higher.

"If I may be so bold for a moment to brag," said union President David McDonald, "nothing like this has been achieved before in American industry negotiations."

The first layoff pay plans were negotiated by Walter Reuther's CIO United Automobile Workers earlier this year with Ford and General Motors.

They were similar to the new steelworkers' contract, but the coverage period for laid off workers extended for a maximum of 26 weeks.

The company contract provides for 52 full weeks.

Like the UAW agreements, the company contracts provide for payments to laid-off workers of about 65 per cent of their normal wages.

These payments are made up of company contributions, plus state unemployment benefits.

They are financed from a special fund, into which the company pays five cents an hour per man until $3,200.00 is amassed.

Benefits are to be available for the can workers in October 1936. After the maximum is reached in the fund, the company pays in only enough to keep it at the maximum.

The main difference between the auto workers' plan and the new steelworkers' plan is the length of the period during which laid-off workers receive payments.

Demo Experts Are Confident About Control

WASHINGTON, Aug. 13 (AP)—Democratic congressional campaign experts said today they are confident of keeping control of both the Senate and House next year, regardless of whether President Eisenhower runs again.

But Republican strategists, conceding they face an uphill fight in both branches, declared they would have an excellent chance to win Congress back if Eisenhower runs and is re-elected.

The 1936 congressional elections are almost 15 months away, but the Senate and House campaign committees of both parties are busily laying the groundwork for next year's campaigns.

In the House, where all 435 seats are at stake next year, the Democrats now hold 232, the Republicans 203. A net gain of 15 GOP seats is necessary for that party to win control.

The present Senate margin is much closer, with the Democrats having only a 49 to 47 edge. A switch of one in the Republicans' favor would give them control, if they retain the vice presidency as Senate presiding officer, the vice president can vote to break ties.

Paradoxically, however, Democratic optimism may be somewhat higher on the Senate side than the House.

That is because 15 Democratic Senate seats are up next year, as against 17 Republican, and eight of the Democratic posts are in Southern states traditionally safe for that party.

Democratic strategists figure it this way:

Only 5 of the 17 Republican seats can be considered safe for the GOP next year; the other 12 are in battleground states and in some of these the Democrats think they have good chances of displacing GOP senators.

Only 7 of the 15 Democratic places at stake can be considered

"border" states which the party usually captures.

Republicans pooh-pooh the idea that they have 12 senators who may be in trouble.

GOP campaign officials place most of their 1935 hopes for overturning Senate Democrats on three states—Oregon, where Sen. Morse will seek re-election for the first time as a Democrat; New York, represented by the veteran Sen. Lehman; and Washington, where Sen. Magnuson is asking a third term.

Republicans make no effort to hide their desire to retire Morse to private life. Elected to the Senate twice as a Republican, he opposed Eisenhower in 1952, then became an Independent, and finally switched his registration to Democratic this year.

SEDALIA BOYS TO B.P.O. ELKS CAMP—Seven local youths between the ages of 12 and 15 left early Sunday morning for Kansas City from where they will take a bus with a group of other boys from Western Missouri for Camp Ni Kah Ga Ha, which is an annual B. O. Elks encampment for boys. The Missouri Elks Association sponsors the activity. Sedalia youths making the trip for two weeks are shown on the steps of the Sedalia Lodge 126 B.P.O. Elks, with two officers of the organization. They are: front row, left to right, Ronnie Greer, 1510 East Fifth; Billy Dennis, 601 North Quincy; and Donny Kellner, 1300 South Grand; back row, Robert Moore, Esteem Leading Knight of the Elks and chairman of the boys camp committee; Ansel Mullins 1204 South Harrison; Roy Paxton, 217 East Broadway; Francis Self, 614 East 11th; Roy Grinstead, 415 North Prospect; and James Durley, Exalted Ruler. The camp is near Joplin.

The boys were taken to Kansas City in two cars accompanied by the following Elks: Moore, Forest Yoder, and John Craig, Deputy Grand Exalted Ruler, in one car; Lou Heisterberg, Ed Behen and Bob Eggleston, in the second car.

THE SPANISH FLAMINGO—Never done quite like the interpretation of Beatrice and Lowe, who will appear nightly with the Raynell production of "Pink Garters" as it appears with the Cettin-Wilson carnival on the midway of the Missouri State Fair. The revue will be staged along with the other attractions in a special revue on Friday night, Aug. 19, and will continue on through the nine days of the fair.

Fair Carnival Will Be Ready Friday Night

The Cettin-Wilson carnival show is expected to arrive in Sedalia either Monday or Tuesday in order to be ready for their pre-venue opening Friday, Aug. 19, at the Missouri State Fairgrounds.

The big attraction of the exposition will be the "Pink Garter" show which is produced by Raynell and which features "Mitzi".

The carnival group will arrive here from Ionia, Mich., after an 800 mile move which includes 27 rides, plus kiddie land and several attractions which have just been added to the show.

Along with these rides there will, of course, be other side shows and a number of animal acts including a chimp show and a motorcycle show where a lion accompanies a girl up the side of a wall on a speeding motorcycle.

Russia Gives Correspondent Steady Visa

MOSCOW, Aug. 13 (AP)—The Foreign Ministry's press chief said today the Soviet Union will give Irving Levine, National Broadcasting Co. correspondent, a permanent visa to remain here and make broadcasts.

Leonid F. Ilyichev, who handles press matters for Foreign Minister Molotov, made the announcement. Levine, a veteran reporter in Europe and the Far East, is now accompanying a delegation of U. S. farmers visiting Tashkent, a city in Uzbekistan, 1,800 miles south-east of Moscow.

Ilyichev told this correspondent of the decision during an interview "so you can break the good news to Levine when you talk to him by telephone at Tashkent."

Levine is believed here to be the first Western non-Communist radio correspondent accredited in Moscow since Robert Magidoff, also an NBC reporter, was expelled in 1948. Magidoff also was correspondent for McGraw-Hill, a New York publisher of business magazines.

The Soviet Union expelled him after Izvestia, the government newspaper, accused him of espionage, which he and his employers, as well as the United States, denied. After he left Russia, Magidoff said the Russians had expelled him for their own internal propaganda purposes.

In his talk today, Ilyichev also repeated a promise he made at the British Embassy party last Tuesday that study was being made of lifting censorship on non-Communist Western correspondents in Moscow.

He said the Soviet Union is willing to consider applications by Western news agencies here to increase their staffs temporarily for the visit of West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer early in September, as well as on a permanent basis.

District Manager Says Social Security Not Yet of Age After 20 Years Work

"On its twentieth birthday, the Social Security Act is not yet of age according to the usual standard for human lives," Scott Weber, District Manager of the Sedalia Social Security Office said today in commenting on the 20th anniversary of the Act which was signed into law by President Roosevelt on August 14, 1935.

Twenty years ago there was no Federal program for protecting workers in private industry against loss of income due to retirement. Only one worker in ten was covered by any retirement system, and only about one worker in 20 by a public program.

Under the Old-Age and Survivors Insurance system, this country has today a contributory social insurance system and the 1935 picture is exactly reversed. Today nine out of ten people who work for a living can look forward to retirement benefits under this program. They also can count on benefits for certain dependents. Furthermore, nine out of ten mothers and children are assured of monthly benefits in case of death of the head of the household.

This is the story of how Old-Age and Survivors Insurance has developed to meet family needs in the 20 years since the passage of the Social Security Act.

Workers, their employers, and self-employed people pay contributions while they are working, and when earnings stop because of the death of the worker or because of his retirement at 65 or later, monthly cash benefits are paid to the worker and his dependents, or to his survivors.

When an insured person reaches 72 years of age, the benefits are payable whether he has retired or not.

Only people employed in commerce and industry could build up benefits under the original social security law.

The 1950 and the 1954 Amendments to the Social Security Act extended coverage to:

Most self-employed people in business and on farms and in certain professions.

Hired farm workers and domestic workers.

Employees of most nonprofit organizations.

Some employees of Federal,

State, and local governments.

The protection of the law is also now available to ministers and members of religious orders, and credit is given for service in the Armed Forces of the United States.

About 69 million persons (nine out of ten of all people in gainful employment or self-employment) will build old-age and survivors insurance protection for themselves and their families during 1955.

In 1955 about 70.4 million people are now insured under the law. About 29.6 million of them are permanently insured — they will stay insured even if they do no more work under the law.

A person who is insured when he reaches 65 and retires can get old-age retirement payments, and his family can get payments as his dependents. If a person is insured at death, his survivors can get payments.

Nine out of ten of the mothers and children in the country would get survivors insurance payments in the event of the death of the family breadwinner.

Monthly payments are being made in August 1955 to more than 7½ million persons.

Over one-half of all aged persons who have no income from employment or self-employment are receiving old-age insurance benefits. Over one-half of all children whose fathers have died are now getting monthly survivors insurance payments.

When the 1954 amendments are fully effective, a retired worker may qualify for payments as high as $108.50 monthly. Total family benefits can now be $200 monthly. Lump-sum payments when an insured worker dies now range from $90 to $255.

In 1955 many people who received benefits as children now have families of their own. Many people now starting to work had not been born when the original social security law was passed.

The full meaning of old-age and survivors insurance for the American people will not be seen for some years to come. We can get an idea of its future significance, however, by looking 20 years into the future just as we have looked 20 years into the past.

Sedalia Explorer Scout—

Travels by Canoe Into Canada, North Woods

Richard Parkhurst, son of Mr. and Mrs. William R. Parkhurst, Route 3, recently returned from an Explorer Scout Canadian-Northwoods Canoe Trip. He was gone about two weeks, spending most of that time in the rivers and lakes of the Northwoods, Minnesota and Canada.

Richard journeyed to Jefferson City July 18 where he met other boys and leaders from the Lake of the Ozarks Council, Boy Scouts of America, who also assembled for the two-week excursion.

The group numbering 18, including leaders George M. Kendrick and Robert "Bob" Burt, left Jefferson City on the morning of July 18. They traveled by the Slater Scout Troop bus to Waterloo, Ia., where they spent their first night out.

Each evening of the trip was spent in tents, with the young men doing their own cooking.

From Waterloo, they traveled to Spooner, Wis., where they toured a fish hatchery and park. They spent their second night in Spooner.

The third day found them on their way to Ely, Minn., and then on to Fall Lake, where they outfitted with packs, canoes, and provisions. Their water-bound trip began here.

They were outfitted with eight aluminum canoes, each holding two persons and equipment; paddles; their personal packs which held their belongings; and a Duluth pack, holding food provisions.

After traveling a short distance from Fall Lake, they portaged (carried) their canoes on a four-mile portage by truck to Paul Bunyan Lodge where they spent the night. The actual trip began here, as far as fishing was concerned.

One scout, who was fishing from his canoe, caught a fish, pulled him in and took him from the artificial lure he was using. He dropped the "plug" over the edge of the canoe, and was putting the fish on the stringer, when a "big one" grabbed the bait and pulled the rod, reel and all into the water, nearly upsetting the boy himself.

Extend Auto Contract To Avert a Strike

DETROIT (AP) — American Motors Corp. and the CIO United Auto Workers agreed early Saturday to extend their contract until Sept. 1, averting a strike of 24,000 workers scheduled for mid-night Friday night.

Negotiations on a new pact were recessed until Aug. 30. They will resume in Detroit.

Leonard Woodcock, UAW vice president who heads the union's American Motors department, said the UAW requested the recess to accommodate AMC workers who will be on vacation the next few weeks while the company closes its plants after yesterday's shifts for a four-week layoff.

Woodcock said four major issues still were unsettled — those involving wages, pensions, holidays and insurance benefits.

In the very early morning, the group began chugging their paddles from Paul Bunyan Lodge through the Basswood Lake to the Canadian Ranger Cabin just inside the Canadian border, where they purchased their Canadian fishing license.

"In Canada," Richard remarked, "we noticed a decisive change in the scenery and the weather. It was much cooler and the shoreline was that of wilderness."

Each day as they journeyed up the many lakes and rivers, they portaged, or carried their canoes and equipment across rough land.

Their evenings were spent in their tents for, as has been said, "the skeeters came up the river with the moon."

Most of the cooking for the trip was done from specially prepared trail package kits. In these were: meat, potatoes, vegetables, fruits and desserts, which were all made with water. Of course, as is customary with most scouting trips, soups and stews were "hashed out" for evening meals—mulligan being the favorite.

Lakes in the area explored by the group were found to be of many different names, including those of weekdays and animals. At Elk Lake, one Scout found a pair of Elk antlers which is said by the Northwoods Indian to be of good luck. They also passed through Wednesday and Thursday lakes.

They found many rapids on their trip. "Shooting the rapids" became a sport for them as they ran several of them. Only once did an accident occur—when they went through rough rapids, three canoes upset, drenching the Scouts in them. No one was injured in the mishap.

Much of the trip was made through rough, undetermined water in the lightweight canoes used by the group. The boys had been previously briefed on the various types of strokes to use in paddling; how to meet situations in rough or rapid water; and for other circumstances.

On the return trip, they spent one night at Table Rock (U.S.A.) and swam from America to Canada, a distance of about a half-mile.

The last days of canoeing found them coming down the Basswood River, making portages in several places. The last night on the river was spent in Canada again, as they were continually zig-zagging in and out of the American-Canadian border. Here they picked and made blueberry jam.

After a day of travel back into Hoist Bay, they returned the canoes and some equipment and boarded the bus for home.

Their return trip was much the same as the one going.

Richard has made previous camping trips to Pa-He-Sti, the scout camp on the Lake of the Ozarks; camped with his explorer post; and last summer went to Philmont, the scout ranch in Cimarron, N.M.

Radar Should Be Complete

If and when Sedalia's police department ever obtains radar equipment—a device known to slow down speeders—the purchase should include a permanent recording meter as well as the visual needle box.

Not long ago an experiment was conducted on East Highway 50 within the city limits which clearly indicated the excessive speed of some cars, but more to the point the amazing reaction of drivers who glimpsed the apparatus at the side of the road around which stood Sedalia police officers and some interested civilians. Of course, this was a dead give away to speedsters. Radar in meaningful use is concealed.

But during the test program, the reaction of unsuspecting drivers was to slow down—and quickly.

The experiment was with a needle reactor only. The pointer activates in the flick of an eyelid. Hence an automatic recorder should be supplementary to the needle box to permanently register sustained speed. It leaves behind something more substantial in convincing a judge there was a pinpointed violation and lessens the argument of the speeder himself that he was only going 15.

As with any new development radar poses problem offshoots, too. Down in Memphis, Tenn., a legal hot potato has arisen over the use of radar. A motorist was trapped one day by a radar speed begged a higher court to settle the finer points of the law involving carrying a sign warning speedsters.

check. The next day the cops with boundless curiosity wondered why no vehicles were speeding through their lair. Investigation revealed the outraged motorist standing up the road waving a cardboard sign labeled, "RADAR!" Passing cars ground down to the legal limit. The sign painter was arrested again, this time for interfering with police duties.

The victim argued he had just as much right to warn motorists of the cops and their speed trap as juveniles do in their time honored and excusable warning of "Jiggers, the Cops!" or truck drivers flashing signals to each other warning of highway police lurking behind a billboard. The prosecution argued that an adult can't do that any more with speed traps than an adult lookout who may be an accomplice of bank robbers. Both are law violators.

Anyway the judge found the sign painter guilty, wrung his hands, and There must be something here involving inalienable rights, too.

This odious development could happen in Sedalia after Sedalia gets radar. But if civilian warnings of speed traps do occur what's the odds—isn't the main idea of radar to slow down motorists rather than use it for a speed trap just to collect money for the city.

Before radar is ever used in Sedalia, all approaches to the city should be properly posted with warnings which should be sufficient. Thereafter it's up to the motorist to obey the speed laws, and not cry about radar if he's caught.

Drew Pearson Says—

World Not Getting Hotter, Says Expert

WASHINGTON — The next time Dad boasts about the good old days when the summers were mild and pleasant, you can tell him to stow it in his beard. It just ain't so, says Norman R. Hagen of the U.S. Weather Bureau, a theory-busting meteorologist with 27 years' experience. And to prove it he points to the summer of 1930, when Washington endured 11 days of temperatures over 100 degrees.

Hagen is the meteorologist who handles the weather bureau's deluge of letters offering solutions to the weather problem. Trouble is the solutions and theories don't stack up.

Many weathermen do believe that the North Atlantic area is getting warmer these days, but they hasten to point out that the change is too slight for any mere mortal to notice it — something on the average of two degrees in the last 100 years.

Even on this point, however, all the experts don't agree. Some admit the weather's been warmer in recent years, yet believe it's just an upward cycle and may cool off again. Others deny that there's been any basic change at all, instead insist that average temperatures have risen in many cities because more man-made heat is being produced by factories, furnaces, the exhaust from autos, and retained in urban areas.

"Don't sit around and wait for palm trees to sprout in Montreal," Hagen advises.

For the slight rise in recorded average temperatures, there are almost as many possible explanations as there are weathermen. Polar ice caps melting? Yes, says Hagen, though they may start growing again. But even if all the ice on earth disappeared, it would only hike average temperatures a few degrees. Down south it might actually benefit the country by bringing more rain.

Is the sun's radiation getting stronger? Yes, says Hagen, but though there seem to be more and more H-bomb-like explosions on the sun, any rise in solar radiation is still too meager to show up accurately on the instruments now used by man.

Why, then, does Dad insist that the summers were cooler and the winter snows deeper when he was a lad? Hagen offers two answers.

First, to a kid 10 years old a six-inch snowfall looked like Siberia. So when Dad grew up and 30 years later started to reminisce, that six-inch snowfall re-appeared in his memory as at least six feet.

Second, the weather changes widely from day to day, week to week, and year to year. If it's average, Dad doesn't notice. But let one really scorching summer heat wave hit town and Dad talks about it incessantly, though the average temperature for the entire summer may later turn out to be sub-normal.

Nevertheless, the average person mopping his brow on an August dogday is hard to convince. This is also true during the hurricane season, now under way, and Hagen gets a lot of letters telling him how to stop the destructive whirlwinds that spawn east of Cuba, then sweep up the Atlantic Coast.

Washington Pipeline

American cameramen at Geneva were so amazed at the treatment they got from Russian secret police that they're still talking about it. In fact, the latest edition of "White House News Photos" tells how the cameramen were staggered by the cooperation of the Soviet secret police, who even held up one TV cameraman so he could take a picture of his bosses over the heads of the crowd.

Swimmer Fish Food

Antonio Abertondo, the famous Argentine swimmer, had to abandon his second trial to swim the Mississippi. The cause was not inability to swim the long distance but he was hauled unconscious from the river because of fish bites.

Determined to reach his goal, to swim 300 miles down the Mississippi, he started from St. Louis but had to give up after 65 hours and 17 minutes of swimming not far from New Madrid, Missouri. Rivermen and the swimmer's companions in the boat said that the slippery fat lanolin which covered Abertondo's body made him a prey for the big catfish and the alligator gar fish that inhabit the river in that area.

While failure is sometimes hard to take, it would seem that a man who swam across the English Channel three times, and once before swam 262 miles in the Mississippi during a period of 72 hours, should be content to stop feeding the fish. Perhaps a coat of aluminum or better still some substance which would make him invisible in the water might help him to realize his goal, but certainly being covered with fish bites is not worth the honor he might achieve for mastering "Ole Man River."

Scientists Disturbed

Many of the scientists who helped create the atom bomb and other nuclear weapons continue to be disturbed about the destructive nature of the products of their brains. The appeal signed by the late Albert Einstein (literally a voice from the grave), and by Bertrand Russell and others, to nations asking them to abandon war completely or face extinction has created great concern among many of the world's outstanding scientists, including Dr. Arthur H. Compton. He is a former Nobel Prize winner. President of Washington University in St. Louis, and Chairman of the World Brotherhood Organization holding its July meeting in Brussels, Belgium.

Dr. Compton is critical of the Einstein plea, but he is willing, and is urging his fellow scientists, to sponsor a warning to the nations on long-term nuclear peril.

Thought for Today

Them as Has Gets—Out

Your Child's Health—

No Method Yet Discovered To Control Child's Height

By Edwin P. Jordan, M. D.

Unhappy parents frequently ask whether there is any way by which a child can be made to grow taller or a way in which a youngster can be made to stop growing! Almost certainly millions of children or their parents wish they were taller or shorter. Probably few of us are satisfied with either our own or our children's physical characteristics.

One question of this sort coming from W.M. deserves a special answer. "My daughter, age 15" she says "has grown several inches in a short period of time. Despite proper shoes and diet the legs have suddenly become bowed during this fast growth period. Are there any corrective measures that should be taken?"

Although I have no suggestions to halt the growth of Mrs. M.'s daughter, the fact that her legs have become bowed is a matter of importance. This is perhaps a sign of rickets which is a disease resulting in softening of the bones due to a deficiency of vitamin D in the diet. If the doctor feels this is responsible then addition of vitamin D to the 15-year-old daughter's intake would certainly seem desirable.

Concern over small size is perhaps most common among boys around 9-12 years old. Parents and the youngsters, too, should understand that the rate of growth varies from one youngster to another, and a boy who seems small up to his teens may suddenly shoot up and end considerably taller than those who were bigger than he at an earlier age.

For practical purposes it should also be said that there is no special injection, exercise, or food which increases height. The diet almost certainly has something to do with height but a well-balanced diet with enough to eat is probably all that is necessary.

There is a more or less normal pattern of growth for each child. One of the most ingenious ways of measuring this pattern is by means of the Wetzel grid, which if followed for long enough is one method of observing whether a particular child is growing as he or she should. If the child is not growing satisfactorily the grid will help to show whether some changes should be made in the diet or if tests for underlying illness or other measures should be taken.

There are many things which influence growth. To some extent size runs in families. As was said in a publication last year, "it is ridiculous for parents, who are, say, 5 ft. 2 in. tall and whose ancestors before them were of comparable size to expect sons 6 ft. tall. It is ridiculous for parents who are more than 6 ft. tall to decry the fact that their 18-year-old daughters are 5 ft. 10 in. tall."

Climate may have something to do with the picture also. Sex is a factor. Boys on the average are taller and heavier than girls though around 11 or 12 years old, girls are often bigger than boys of the same age.

Exactly what is responsible remains something of a question.

Scientists Caution Use of X-Ray For Expectant Mothers

GENEVA (AP)—American scientists warned today that caution should be used in X-raying women of child bearing age lest the unborn infant be injured.

Two members of the U. S. Atomic Energy Commission said that in cases of suspected pregnancy application of X-rays to a woman's pelvis might result in malformation of the developing baby.

Thus, they told the 72-nation atoms-for-peace conference, pelvic X-rays for women in this age group should be restricted to two weeks following the menstrual period "as there is comparatively little chance of any unsuspected pregnancy during that time."

The report was made by L. B. Russell and W. L. Russell of the AEC's Oak Ridge, Tenn., laboratory.

Researchers said pregnant women who have jobs in industry where they might be exposed to radiation need have little fear of hazard to their unborn child, provided this occupational radiation exposure does not exceed the permissible weekly dose worked out by scientists.

Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON — Still pestered with a street car and bus strike, Washington wonders if Hurricane Connie will be as destructive as Hurricane Hazel of last fall.

This correspondent lost six fine trees, a dock, and a little sailboat was $325-damaged, so news from the Weather Bureau always is awaited here as "news from the Hill" is when Congress is in session.

These weather girls are cut-ups. "Alice" had her day in the Caribbean and "Brenda" scared the Gulf coast in July, but neither were real hurricanes. Now "Connie" is hitting a 135-mile speed and coming this way and after Connie, there's Diane, Edith, Flora, Gladys and so on.

The hurricane season, the Weather Bureau says, runs "officially" from June through October but doesn't show much activity until August or September. Hurricanes blow hundreds of miles and prefer the Eastern and Southern part of the country. Tornadoes come earlier and like Kansas best, although they have hit in all 48 states. Unlike hurricanes the path of tornado destruction is smaller, often only 400 yards wide and 16 miles long.

The expansion of Weather Bureau warning services has declined the loss of life from hurricanes. The Bureau in mid-June added ten new radar storm detection stations to a network now stretching from Texas to Maine.

Congress, determined to get the best of these hurricane - gals, appropriated $4 million for improvement of warning devices and another $1 million for a survey by the Army Engineers to cut down on the losses by storms.

Congress adjourned without designating the rose as the national flower.

This may not be of earth shaking importance even to Congress-woman Frances Bolton (R-Ohio) and Senator Margaret Chase Smith (R-Maine) who introduced the bills, but the proposal did stir up a lot of opposition from lily, lilac and magnolia partisans. The co-sponsors are still amazed at the amount of mail the rose created in comparison to the number of letters they receive on matters involving the security of the free world!

Senator's Wife Plans For Best Interest of Husband

Going over blueprints of their dream home in Morganfield, Ky., are Sen. and Mrs. Earle C. Clements (D-Ky.).

BY ALICIA HART
NEA Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON — (NEA) — Sen. and Mrs. Earle C. Clements—he's the quiet Kentucky Democrat now pinch-hitting as Senator Majority Leader for ailing Lyndon Johnson — are following in the footsteps of Ike and Mamie Eisenhower.

Not politically, but domestically. For like the Eisenhowers, they are fixing up an old house as a permanent place to live in the years to come. The Clements, however, are just beginning their renovating operation whereas the President's rebuilt farm at Gettysburg, Pa., is practically finished.

The Clements' new homestead is at Morganfield, Ky., where he and his wife were born and raised. It's an eight room colonial-styled house surrounded by spacious lawns and beautiful old trees. Inside and out a good deal of work has to be done.

For the past several months Clements and his wife have been poring over blueprints of the house which will be their first real home since he became Governor of Kentucky in 1947.

Now that he is Acting Majority Leader, Clements has little time for his favorite project. Next to the President, he is probably one of the busiest men in Washington.

The strain of this job proved to be too much for conscientious Sen. Lyndon Johnson (D-Tex) who recently suffered a heart attack and will not be able to return to the post until next January, if then.

The man he personally picked as his replacement, however, is not going to work to the point of exhaustion and leave himself open to a serious health condition—that is if his wife has anything to do with it.

This attractive, white haired woman, whom her close friends call Sara, has devoted her life to keeping her husband healthy and happy. Describing her role she says, "I have always felt that his business, rather than mine, is the first business, and that it is my business to look after him and protect him."

She does this in an undramatic and modest way. She watches his diet. She sees to it that he gets as much sleep as possible, and she makes no demands upon him, either politically or socially.

Like her husband, Mrs. Clements is retiring and anxious to keep out of the limelight, a rarity in a town where personal publicity is considered valuable and desirable.

"It wasn't my ambition that pushed Earle into politics," she says sincerely. "I would have been perfectly happy if we had spent our whole life in Morganfield."

"But I do enjoy life here and I like it better and better each year," she adds. "I realize how much I've gotten out of it, and I find it's fun to be on the scene where things are going on."

At the present time she can't help being more interested in their project back home. "We will be living in an apartment there until some time early in the fall when we can move into the house," she explains. "I'm personally planning to spend all my time working in the garden. Earle is particularly interested in enclosing one of the porches and making it into sort of a study."

The two story colonial structure is 95 years old and the oldest home in Morganfield. The Clements purchased it around the first of the year. Every room has a fireplace, but there is no furnace. Putting in central heating is going to be one of the biggest jobs.

In Washington the Clements live in an apartment handsomely furnished with antiques. Their mode of living is quiet and easy going.

"We're informal people," says Mrs. Clements, "and as far as leading a real social life, we don't go in for that."

Mrs. Clements never knows just when her husband will arrive home from the Senate.

"I have waited many meals on him," she says with a laugh. "Sometimes they're pretty cold, but he always takes them in the condition they're in without complaint."

Odds and Ends

DURING AN electrical storm, the lights went out in one home and a young girl in the family knew exactly where she had some candles in a box in a drawer but when she started to look for them she just couldn't find them. She looked and she looked in the dark and then unconsciously she yelled, "Somebody turn on the light." Remembering immediately that the reason she was looking for the candles in the first place was because there wasn't any lights.

In another home a woman keeps her candles in the refrigerator and when her lights went out she made her way to the refrigerator in the dark and opened the refrigerator door to get the candles out. She fully expected the little refrigerator light to go on so she could see where the candles were but it didn't then she remembered, too, that was why she was looking for the candles, so she fumbled all over the food until she found something that felt long and round, took them out and lit them.—H.L.

Guest Editorial—

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE MONITOR: "Where's the Car Tonight?" Should there be a midnight curfew on teen-age driving? This would be a drastic proposal, but unless milder restraints have some effect there may be serious suggestions in this direction in the interests of safety.

A group of state traffic and law enforcement officials conferred recently with Gov. Abraham A. Ribicoff of Connecticut. Among several recommendations resulting from the conference was one that parents should restrict the use of family cars by their children unless the youngsters returned home by midnight.

This was based on the facts that although the Connecticut accident record is lower this year than last, the number of fatalities is higher, and that early morning crashes by teen-agers using family cars have contributed significantly to this total. Any parent with a teen-age driver or drivers in the family knows the difficulty of keeping control of the family car. It is a problem on which parents need the support of each other and perhaps of public officials.

Some parents perhaps would welcome the backing of a law which ruled drivers of under 20 off the highway after 12 or 1 o'clock at night. This, however, would penalize many for the offenses of a few.

If extreme proposals are to be averted, the answer must be sought first in driver training with an emphasis on safety, in resolute parental control, and in a sense of responsibility—which in this motor age has to be acquired early or else some privileges become too costly for society to sustain.

Stored Since 1911—

Horse Drawn Hearse Onetime Pride of Knob Noster Area

An interesting old relic stored in a livery stable in Knob Noster since 1911 has recently been sold to a Kansas City collector. It is an ornate horse-drawn hearse complete with curved glass and black drapes with tassels, vintage late nineteenth century.

The hearse was bought by W. E. Zink, Sr., Knob Noster water dealer, in 1907 when he was in the livery business there. In those days the livery stable furnished all the carriages, buggies and other livery, including the hearse, to undertakers.

This hearse was a beauty. On top was its crowning glory, a carved anchor, complete with rope, surrounded by a wreath. The wood was painted black and highly polished. Aside from the top, bottom and one post on each corner, the hearse was completely glass enclosed with the panes curved on the two ends.

Inside, there is a brass rail on either side which was kept highly polished. Two small brass vases are attached to each rail where one stem of a flower or so could be seen from the outside. Hanging

Recapture Escapee From St. Louis Jail

ST. LOUIS (P)—Joseph J. Bargeon, 27, who escaped from the Municipal Courts Building Tuesday following his arraignment on an auto theft charge, was captured yesterday by police in a stolen car.

Police said they halted the vehicle because it bore a license number given by two victims of holdups in a south St. Louis park Thursday night. Also in the car were two boys 18 and 19, and two 15-year-old girls.

All were held without charge and will be viewed by the holdup victims.

Bargeon pushed aside a guard and climbed over an eight-foot gate to escape from the courtroom detention cell.

FINISHING TOUCHES—Sedalia's new million-gallon water tank is receiving the finishing touches on a job that began a year ago. This week several welders have been employed in removing dents and minor imperfections in the huge tank. In shipping and in the ground assembly of the large segments, there is an almost unavoidable amount of minor damage done that must be corrected when the tank is fully assembled.

Men are also working on the underground installations beneath the tank. Included is a "manhole" the size of a small room, where work may be done on the main line that leads into the tank from the Main Street side.

According to present plans, the tank and the other innovations in Sedalia's new water system should be in operation by October. (Staff photo)

Regional Library Notes--

Perk Up Your Summer Meals With New Cookbook Recipes

Have your summer meals reached the August doldrums? If so, why not borrow cookbooks from your library to perk them up? "The Summer Cookbook" by Marion C. McCarroll has suggestions ranging from salad picnics to meals for a company weekend.

New ideas on dishes that wait include jellied veal. This can be cooked in the pressure cooker in forty minutes and then prepared and placed in the refrigerator. Simply made, with its own gelatin base, this is the answer to an easy main dish when the housewife is away from home or occupied with other duties. Outdoor barbecues, weekend company plans and a chapter on "Quick 'n' easies" are all found in this small summer cookbook. "Dinners that Wait" by Betty Watson and "Cook it Ahead" by Elinore J. Marvel contain all kinds of good management plans and recipes. Two titles on salads, others on pickling and preserving, as well as many general cookbooks are available. If you are freezing fruits, vegetables or meats, have you made use of the U. S. Department of Agriculture bulletins on those subjects? Your library can lend them to you or your County Home Agent can usually provide them. The Agriculture Extension Service gives a wide variety of aids on all types of home and farm problems, so use their service as well as your library in your daily living.

Plans for fall sewing, for making slip covers, upholstering, making draperies and remodeling, re-finishing and painting are being made now. Your library has books on all these subjects. Some are of the very simple type to help the inexperienced worker, others would be a real aid to the professional worker. Furniture remodeling and refinishing cover both unfinished units and old and antique items.

House plans and advice for those planning to build cover widely different circumstances. Small house and large, ranch, modern, and traditional homes are shown in the books of plans. Consider built-ins, utility rooms and plenty of storage space. All these may be found in library books. Ask your librarian on the bookmobile or in the Boonville or Sedalia headquarters. Or a postcard will bring results.

This week's Bookmobile schedule is: Tuesday, Aug. 16: Striped Col-

Kids Did All--

'Park Avenue Circus' Held For Cerebral Palsy Benefit

Barnum & Bailey could have well taken some stock, both figuratively and literally, in the Park Avenue Circus held Monday night in the rear yard of Mr. and Mrs. James W. Woods, 612 South Park. The talent was contributed and the profits were far above expectation. Result--the United Cerebral Palsy of Pettis County fund is $5 richer.

Both parents and neighborhood children attended the circus after an all-day ballyhoo by the performers, and the few seats placed for the audience did not begin to hold the crowd. This worked out fine, since it gave the standing customers more of a chance to visit the concession stands and spend those loose dimes and nickles.

The kids who performed or took other parts in the circus were Gregory and Bill Thompson, sons of Mr. and Mrs. Robert C. Thompson, 620 South Park; Janet Morris, daughter of Mrs. Lodelle Morris, 510 Dal-Whi-Mo; Ann Sillers, 1122 West Seventh; Billy Heiss, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Heiss, 1201 West Sixth; Malinda Cook, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Haskell Cook, 725 West Third; and Mary Karen and Jimmy Woods, children of Mr. and Mrs. Woods, whose home was the scene of the circus.

The idea of the circus for United Cerebral Palsy came about after

4-H Round-Up

By Jim Perry

Assistant County Agent

I have received many fine compliments on the Longwood Neighbors 4-H electricity project TV show. Carl Raines interviewed the members of the project. Each member showed and explained an article that they had made. Half of the project leadership team did not appear on the program. She is Mrs. Carl Raines. Mr. and Mrs. Raines have done a fine job with their group. This is particularly noteworthy since they have no children. Their willingness to help the young people certainly typifies the volunteer leadership which is so important to 4-H club work.

The two factors, enthusiastic leadership and project member interest, worked together to promote quite a record for their group. They had 100 per cent attendance at their eight project meetings.

Missouri State Fair
The Missouri State Fair provides an opportunity for 4-H'ers to exhibit their livestock and articles developed during the 1955 club year. Many articles were selected at the County Achievement Days to be shown at the Fair.

Members exhibiting livestock, dairy and poultry know whether or not they should take their livestock to the State Fair. Such events as these help the members to learn to evaluate the projects.

District Judging Events
4-H judging teams will compete with teams from ten other counties on Monday, May 22, at the Missouri State Fair. The teams for Pettis County are as follows:

Vegetable—George Buchholz and Larry Gorrell (Van Natta 4-H); Lucile Rugen (Lamine 4-H); and alternate, Joyce Stephens (Longwood Neighbors 4-H).

Clothing—Mary Schwartz (South Abell 4-H); Helen Rugen (Lamine 4-H); Elaine Lowrey (Hughesville 4-H); and alternate, Judy Hopkins (Striped College 4-H).

Food Preparation—Caroline Staley (Striped College 4-H); Shirley Tegtmeyer (Oak Point 4-H); Joan Gay Townsend (Tanglebrook 4-H); and alternates, Virginia Walk (Hughesville 4-H) and Joyce Stephens (Longwood Neighbors 4-H).

Davis-Clark Awards Available
The Davis-Clark Awards are to be presented again this year to junior members. The Missouri Holstein-Friesian Association is sponsoring this award in memory of two of its most prominent breeders. Four registered heifer calves will be awarded to junior members, two in 4-H and two in FFA.

The purpose of the award is to make available to deserving boys and girls registered Holstein calves in hope that they may become interested in becoming breeders.

Awards are to be made in person to the winning candidates at the time of the Annual Meeting and Banquet of this Association, normally held in late November of each year.

Any boy or girl regularly enrolled in Junior Activity Work is eligible to receive the award, provided that: (1) He or she has had one year or more of Dairy Project Work; (2) Shall be between the ages of 11 and 15 years; and (3) Has not previously received the award of a calf.

4-H Dairy Project Leaders and FFA teachers shall send to the chairman of the junior activities committee of each district association, prior to October 1 each year, names of candidates considered worthy, supporting each nomination with the following supporting data: (1) Name and address of each nominee (2) Age of nominee (3) Name of club and 4-H leader, or name of FFA teacher (4) Name of parents (5) Name of nearby Holstein breeder (6) Ability of Junior to properly care for calf (7) Breed of dairy cattle, if any, on home farm (8) An essay by nominee not to exceed 400 words be a Holstein Breeder.

Public Library Notes--

Fine Books Offer Marriage Hints for Prospective Bride

"Happy is the bride the sun shines on," says an old adage, but happier still is the young woman whose wedding and married life are planned for success.

Many books at the Sedalia Public Library are designed to help prospective brides with their plans.

Books like Marguerite Bentley's "Wedding Etiquette," and Amy Vanderbilt's "Complete Book of Etiquette" will help her plan a time schedule of things to do before the important day and make every detail of her wedding just right.

The young bride can also find hints on all phases of home making in books at the library. "Home-making Can Be Easy," by Myrtle Rudd Tolg, gives practical solutions to everyday household problems. Other practical and helpful books include "America's House-keeping Book," and "The Good Housekeeping Book."

In the realm of interior decoration, Elizabeth Halsey's "Ladies Home Journal Book of Interior Decorating" is an excellent and colorfully illustrated guide. Mrs.

Halsey assumes that few people start with nothing when they furnish a house and one should make the best of what one has. Elizabeth Ogg takes a slightly different approach in her "Decorating on a Budget." She discusses the possibilities of salvaging second-hand furniture, doing one's own refinishing and making use of inexpensive materials. "Off to the Right Start," by Marjorie Binford Woods and Justine Freely, offers some good advice on choosing your household treasures and how to use them. Here is a book that combines function and fun; a guide that will help the bride (and her man) select wisely and well all the things that make home such a joy today.

In the budget department is J. K. Lasser's book, "Managing Your Money." Mr. Lasser says it's not how much you earn, but how you spend it, that counts. He presents a wealth of detailed information on personal and family finances. These and other helpful books are all available at the public library to help the bride plan her married life for success.

Little League Championship To Kiwanians

The Kiwanis defeated the Optimists Friday night, 13 to 3, to take the Little League championship in the rubber game of their best two out of three series.

The Kiwanis, National League leaders, proved too powerful for the American club, last year's champions, outlasting them 11 to 5. The Kiwanians jumped to a two-run lead in the second inning, added four in the third and had smooth sailing from there on in.

Kiwanis pitcher Leroy Cole racked up his second win of the series. The situation was pretty well in hand for all but the third inning, when eight Optimists came to the plate. With the bases loaded and two out, Cole got Stout on a feeble roller to Lee at second who tossed to Smith for the out, quelling what might have been a big rally. Cole also starred as a hitter with a home run, and the right fielder Smithers followed along with another.

Bryan started on the hill for the Optimists, and handled himself well in the early innings, registering seven strikeouts. However, when he passed his seventh man in the fifth frame, he was replaced because of wildness. Leading hitter for the Optimists was Case, who collected a double and single.

Holden To Play Wichita Friday In NBC Tourney

WICHITA, Kan., Aug. 13—(P)—Illinois, Nebraska, Missouri and Kansas teams will open the National championship baseball tournament in Wichita next Friday night.

The National Baseball Congress announced today that the Illinois state champions, Peoria Caterpillars with a 22-3 record will play Nebraska's No. 1 non-professional club, North Platte Plainsmen (27-6) in the opening game of the long tourney.

In the second first-night contest the defending national champions, Wichita Boeing Bombers (36-4) play the non-pro Holden, Mo., Chiefs (41-6).

Former big leaguers Allie Reynolds and Leroy (Satchel) Paige will be given plaques as part of the opening night ceremonies. They played in the National tournaments here two decades ago.

The 1955 champions will be determined under the double defeat system. Thirty-two teams will participate.

St. Louis All Stars Beat Southeast Team In Benefit Game

CHARLESTON, Mo. (P)—The St. Louis All Stars built up a three-tournament lead, then fought off a last minute rally to defeat the Southeast Missouri All Stars, 18-14, last night in the sixth annual High School Polo game.

Proceeds of the annual affair go to the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis.

Jerry Insalaco of Southwest High School in St. Louis scored a first period touchdown with a 4-yard plunge. A pass from Art Muegler of Beaumont high to Donald Pidcock of Southwest was good for 59 yards and a second period score, and Ted Stergion of Southwest made a 59-yard run to complete the St. Louis scoring.

The All Stars from the Southeast Missouri high schools began their comeback in the final period as York Hughes of Caruthersville scored twice with a 20-yard run and a 4-yard plunge. Bob Lohr of Sikeston kicked both extra points.

The Southeast All Stars rolled to the St. Louis 2-yard line for a first down, but a St. Louis player intercepted a pass just as the final gun sounded.

National dues for the Women's International Bowling Congress have been raised from 25 cents to 50 cents per member effective on Aug. 1. In summer leagues, however, the raise is effective immediately.

Younger Leagues End Season

Babe Ruth-Little League Conclude Baseball Games

The baseball season for Sedalia has narrowed down considerably with the final games of the Little League and the Babe Ruth League being played Friday and Saturday nights. With the fading of these two leagues from the sports scene the Sedalia Chiefs are left holding up the baseball end as the football season has all but eclipsed the "National Sport."

The Little League season ended with the Kiwanis club taking the city championship in the last game of a three game series at Little League stadium at Liberty Park.

Saturday night the Babe Ruth League ended a four team playoff for the city championship in that league which was taken by the Brown's Supply club.

Both of these leagues have provided the baseball fans in Sedalia with many exciting evenings of entertainment and have produced some fine players, who will be back next season to continue in the fine tradition both leagues have started.

The accounts of the final games is carried on the same page.

First Place Chiefs Meet Moberly Here

Tonight the Chiefs will play their fourth home game in a row as they take the field against the Moberly Miners at Liberty Park at 8 p. m.

This is the first game the Chiefs start with the title of the first place team in the Central Missouri Ban Johnson League standings. They received the right to do this after a thrilling 5-0 shutout of the former first place Jefferson City Bears here Thursday night.

The big games are now behind the Chiefs as far as the league play is concerned, but the team has not relaxed its intense spirit or will to win as one slip could put them completely out of the race.

As the situation now stands the Chiefs can win the remainder of the season tie Jefferson City, who have not played as many games as the Chiefs, but who will make them up in the next week of play.

The only way this tie could be avoided is for Jefferson City to take a loss from one of the teams they face, which include Columbia, Moberly (2 games), and Mexico (2 games).

Should Jefferson City and the Chiefs win their remaining games a tie would result and a playoff for the second half pennant in Ban Johnson play would be called.

If Jefferson City won the playoff they would reign as the season champions as they capped the first half season pennant. However, should Sedalia win the playoff, another playoff for the league championship would be necessary between the same two teams.

The manager of the Chiefs, Russ Gilmore, has drafted a letter to the public which follows:

"The Chiefs as a team can not estimate the wonderful effect that the cheering and well wishes of so many loyal fans have brought. We can only show our appreciation by continuing to play the brand of ball the fans like. Our aim is to win the second half pennant and the season championship.

Once again I should like to thank the fans for their support and urge them to keep back of the Chiefs as they strive to give them top flight ball games."

Hewson Equals Listed World Mark For Half Mile In London Meet

LONDON, Aug. 13—(P)—Britain's Brian Hewson today running in driving rain, equalled the listed world mark for the half mile—but Hewson has no chance of going into the record books.

The tall four-minute miler won the half mile on the final day of the Hungary vs. Great Britain track and field meet at London's White City Stadium in 1:48.6. That equals the listed mark held jointly by America's Mal Whitfield and Gunnar Nielsen of Denmark. America's Lon Spurrier, however, has a 1:47.5 mark up for ratification.

Hewson held off a strong challenge from the European 800-meter champion Lajos Szentgali to establish a British all-comers' and empire record before a crowd of 40,000. Szentgali was clocked in 1:48.9.

Babe Ruthers Settled Race On Saturday

In the Friday night games, the Browns walloped Western Auto in a one-sided shutout contest, 14 to 0. Jack Benner went all the way on the mound for the Browns, allowing only two hits. Larry Abney started for Western Auto, and later moved out for Wilhite. K. Sheppard led the Browns hitting department with 3 for 4. Dotson and Cramer collected the lone Western Auto hits.

The second game was a much tighter contest, with Phillips 66 edging out Taystee 5 to 4 behind the pitching of J. R. Farris and Tommy Herrick. Rodger Gates turned in a brilliant 3-hit performance for Taystee, but errors cost him the game. Rouchka with 3 for 4 led the Taystee hitters, while Jones, Bryan and Meredith collected one apiece for Phillips.

Fishing Column--

Reports of some of the best fishing of the summer came from the Gravois arm of the Lake this week. A good many channel cat and crappie are being taken, and a few black bass, the first in some time. Thursday and Friday the jack salmon began coming up for the first time. Several groups caught their limit of four each day, some weighing up to four pounds.

Two flathead catfish, 38 and 38½ pounds, were brought in on the same trotline. This was called the best cat year for a long time.

This good fishing was attributed to the cool weather, lowering the surface temperature of the water and bringing the fish up.

However, Warsaw reported only fair success, with fishing about like last month despite the good condition of the Lake. A few channel cats and crappie were brought in, and white cats on trotlines, with an occasional bass being caught.

White River reports limits of trout taken by several groups. A two-day float trip netted 36 rainbow trout, plus five bass, bows on worms, plus five bass, and another trip picked up 12, also on worms.

The precision round gave Winger a score of 67-73-69—209.

Winger, who has improved his game tremendously over the past two years, competed in the Sedalia Invitational golf tournament held at the Sedalia Country Club in 1953.

The third, or "choke-up" round of the high-pressure quest for the $50,000 first prize, saw halfway leader Bob Rosburg blow sky-high for an 80 and a 54-hole total of 213.

Rosburg's miserable round dropped him to eighth in the standings. Winger, whose largest previous prize in three pro seasons was $2,200, came roaring up from a fourth-place tie at 36 holes to carve a 36-33-69 third round out of Tam O'Shanter's par 36-36-72.

Tied for second at 210 were Wally Ulrich, who shot a 75, and Gene Littler, who dropped an eight footer on the last hole for a 70.

It was a windswept day and a tough one for the 105 pros who went tramping after Rosburg. Par was extremely elusive as a tricky wind and hard, bumpy greens tested the players.

Rosburg's horrible 80 after two opening rounds of 66 and 67 was the biggest blowup in Tam history. After staggering to an opening 39, marred by four bogeys, the unorthodox swinger from Palo Alto, Calif., rolled to a closing 41 as he committed six more bogeys.

Winger and Julius Boros, 1952 world champion, were the only ones of the entire field to better 70. Boros, like Winger, fired a 69 to capture fourth place at 211, two strokes behind.

The whole complexion of the tourney changed at the 50th hole when the hard-pressing Winger took command by moving two strokes ahead of Rosburg and Ulrich.

Rosburg, who needed a whopping total of 40 putts and three-putted five greens, couldn't 62 explain his blowup.

Knotted at 213, four strokes off the pace, were four players including Lionel Hebert, British Open champion Peter Thomson, Gardner Dickinson, Jr., and Rosburg.

Jay Hebert was notched at 214 after a 74 round, while six players were tied at 215, including Tommy Bolt, Freddie Haas, Jr., Walker Imman, Jr., Tony Cerda, Dutch Harrison and Henry Ransom.

The 1955 U. S. Open champion Jack Fleck wandered into a five-way tie at 218, two over par for 54 holes, as he shot a 76. Defending champion Bob Toski was hopelessly far behind with a 73 for 225.

The gallery-attracting Sammy Snead was buried at 220 with a 73. Doug Ford, the 1955 National PGA champion, finished the third round at 219 with a 75, while Cary Middlecoff, the year's leading money-winner struggled with a 72 to 219.

The tourney winds up tomorrow. In the $12,000 concurrent women's "World" pro meet, Mary Lena Faul captured a three-stroke lead with a third round 72 for a 54-hole total of 220.

Second in the chase for the $5,000 top feminine prize were Fay Crocker, the halfway leader, and veteran Patty Berg, deadlocked at 223. Miss Crocker shot an even women's par 76, while Miss Berg, seeking a third straight "World" crown, had a 75.

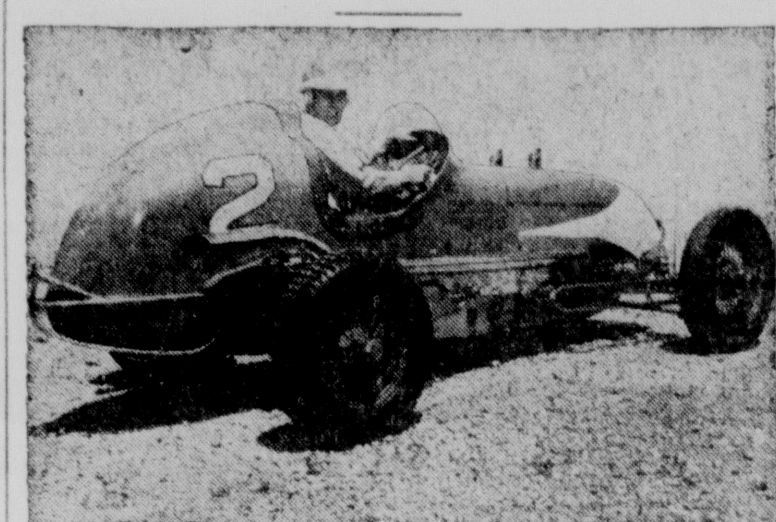

The "World" men's amateur leader continued to be hot-shooting Doug Sanders of Cedar town, Ga., 33-year-old star from the U. of Florida.

Despite his poorest round of the tourney, 77, Sanders held an eight stroke lead with a 54-hole count of 214. Sanders suffered a 2-stroke penalty for signing an inaccurate card. Second with 73 for a 222 aggregate was Hillman Robbins of

Banked Track Will Boost Speed Records This Year

MISSOURI FUTURITY CHALLENGER—Among top contenders for the $6,000-plus purse at stake in the 100-mile Missouri Futurity at Sedalia, Saturday, Aug. 27, will be Scotty Seville of Kansas City at the wheel of the Bud Wilson Motors Special entered by Bud Wilson, St. Joseph sportsman and automobile dealer.

Sports Scraps

(By D. Kelly Scruton)

THE organizational meeting for the Pettis County Conservation Federation Chapter is to be held Tuesday night at the B.P.O. Elks Club and all sportsmen are invited to attend the meeting. It is a revival of the old organization which for several years functioned to a great benefit for wildlife in this county, but during the World War II years died out.

Some weeks ago a group of sportsmen discussed the reorganization and around that small group it was decided to form a temporary organization. Temporary officers were elected and plans set for the organizational gathering at which time it is possible the permanent officers will be chosen.

Richard Dean is temporary president; Porter Robb temporary vice president; Keith "Duke" Steivers the temporary secretary-treasurer with P. J. Hedderick, assistant secretary in charge of membership.

The group decided to have each member contact as many sportsmen as they knew, and in turn pass the word around as much as possible and notify others who were not contacted personally through the press. It is the desire of the group to have as many sportsmen and farmers at this meeting as possible.

Certainly such a chapter is needed in this county. The work of the organization several years ago paid off in wildlife dividends. Since it dwindled out little attention has been given to wildlife activities by the local sportsmen who must join together to preserve and build up wildlife for the present as well as our future sportsmen.

It is timely that such an organization be reorganized at this time—just before the Missouri State Fair. The State Conservation Commission will have, as usual, an exceptionally large display on the fair grounds at the Commission's Wildlife building. The local chapter can do much to assist in the success of this wonderful display.

Ed Stegner, executive secretary of the State Federation, is coming to Sedalia and along Memphis, 1954 national collegiate champ.

In Tam's other sideshow, the "World" women's amateur meet, Jackie Yates of Honolulu, 1955 collegiate champion, fired a 74 for 233 and a two-stroke lead over the halfway leader, Wiffie Smith of St. Clair, Mich. Miss Smith wavered for a 78.

CHICAGO, Aug. 13—(P)—Hefty Jim Tom Blair, an amateur, had the longest drive of the Tam O'Shanter golf tournament today, but he could do no better than score a triple bogey 7 on the hole.

Blair, son of Missouri's lieutenant governor, sent his first tee shot on the 410-yard 18th hole sailing across the out-of-bound markers.

Then he wound up and slammed a second drive down the middle 375 yards—and into the river fronting the green.

With the penalties involved, young Blair finally reached the green in 5 and two-putted for his 7 to card an 8-over-par 80.

"Should have used a spoon on the 18th tee instead of a driver," snorted Blair.

He had been in second place at the end of play yesterday, but dropped to a tie for fourth with 226.

Half-Mile Oval Reshaped, Rain Helps Surface

The crash of falling records should rival the roar of racing motors at the State Fairgrounds half-mile track here next weekend.

The circuit, which formerly had been one of the most completely flat tracks in the Midwest, has been reshaped under the direction of Grounds Superintendent Charles Riley and now is banked three feet from the lip to the inner boundary on the turns.

National Speedways officials who viewed the track last week indicated that a complete rewriting of the archives would likely follow the assault on the speed marks, some of which have stood since 1949.

Work on the track was carried out following consultation with Henry Deets of Des Moines, grounds superintendent at the Iowa State Fair, which owns one of the fastest half-mile layouts in the country.

Riley moved more than a thousand yards of dirt in constructing the banks. Coupled with last week's rains, which came just at the proper time to assist in ironing the reshaped turns, the face-lifted oval promised to hurl a genuine challenge at the drivers who will vie in the modified stock car vents set Saturday and in the big car sprints the following day.

Riley also announced that a carload of calcium — the substance placed on dirt tracks to hold the surface — is on hand to insure a track as free of dust as it is possible to make one.

Reconstruction of the track promises Missouri speed fans one of the finest programs of auto racing ever run over the dual fairgrounds ovals.

On Saturday, Aug. 27, the speedway cars will shift to the mile track to roar through the 100-mile Missouri Futurity in quest of more than $6,000 in prize money and the Governor's Trophy. Sunday, Aug. 28, will find showroom model 1950 to 1955 stock cars embarking on a 100-lap tour of the mile oval.

A total of more than $16,500 in purse money will be paid winners in the four-day racing program.

Missouri State Fairgrounds Half-Mile Track Records: (Speedway-Type Cars): One lap — Jimmy Campbell, Bates City, Mo., 2:46.1, Aug. 17, 1952; Three laps — Jerry Kemp, St. Louis, Mo., 1:17.61, Aug. 24, 1953; Five laps — Frank Luptow, Tampa, Fla., 2:09.52, Aug. 21, 1949; Seven laps — Vern Bradley, Davenport, Ia., 3:33.95, May 30, 1951; Fifteen laps — Bobby Grim, Indianapolis, Ind., 6:00.85, Aug. 28, 1949; Twenty laps — Mac McHenry, Wichita, Kan., 7:37.50, Aug. 24, 1953.

Guglielmi Is Honored In Grid Game

CHICAGO, Aug. 13.—Ralph Guglielmi of Notre Dame, who directed and passed the college all-stars to victory over the Cleveland Browns, was acclaimed today as the game's most valuable player.

Sixty-two of the 110 sports writers who covered last night's 30-27 thriller picked the former Irish quarterback as the standout of the cast of 1954 collegiate seniors who turned back the National Football League champs.

L. G. Dupre of Baylor, whose long runs were vital to the stars' attack, was the runner-up to Guglielmi. Dupre was the choice of 38 writers.

The only other stars to receive votes were tiny Tad Weed of Ohio State, who kicked three field goals and two extra points, and Mal Triplett, Toledo fullback. Weed received nine votes; Triplett one.

E. L. Curly Lambeau, the all-stars' head coach, supported the writers' selection by terming Guglielmi's work "the greatest job of quarterbacking I ever saw."

While Coach Paul Brown of the Browns blamed the pro champs' defeat on his belief that "our defense broke down," it was obvious to the crowd of 75,000 in Soldier Field that the all-star offense was razor sharp.

Guglielmi, who will play pro ball for the Washington Redskins, kept the attack rolling by calling every play.

To Hold Meeting For Sportsmen, Conservationists

John Hickey, local conservation agent, has announced that he will conduct a public meeting Tuesday evening, at 8 p. m., at the Elks Club, and invites all sportsmen and conservationists to attend.

"The purpose of the meeting," Agent Hickey said, "is to acquaint our local people with wildlife conditions and problems—here and to gather their recommendations on fish and game regulations. Any one interested in any phase of the Conservation Commission's program is welcome to attend and express his views. Suggestions made to me will be forwarded to the four-man wildlife commission for study."

Hickey said similar meetings will be conducted in every county of the state in order to exchange information on wildlife conditions and gather information on suggested regulations changes. "The Conservation Commission's September meeting will consider the changes made at these meetings," he concluded.

Teeing Off

The Club Championship tournament at the Elm Hills course is about halfway completed, with around 40 members participating. The semifinals should be played about August 25th, and the finals are planned for about the 31st.

Arrangements are getting underway for the matches with the Sedalia Country Club, tentatively slated for Labor Day and the second Sunday of September. Fred Wertz is chairman for the Elm Hills club, with Charles Patterson for the Country Club.

All members will be eligible in team play.

Wednesday Ladies Day attendance at Elm Hills has been drawing greater crowds during the past few weeks.

Last Sunday, Charles Patterson retained his Country Club golf championship by edging out Herb Studer 2 up in the 36-hole final match, in a sparkling comeback victory. Studer was making a bid for his fourth title.

Indians 5, Athletics 3

KANSAS CITY, Aug. 13.—The rampaging Cleveland Indians boosted their American League first place margin to two games tonight by shutting off a ninth-inning Kansas City rally for a 5-3 victory.

It was Cleveland's sixth straight triumph and enabled the Indians to pick up another full game on the second place Chicago White Sox who were edged 8-7 by the Detroit Tigers.

Cleveland's ace rookie left-hander Herb Score, got credit for the win but needed help from Ray Narleski with two out in the ninth after the A's had pushed one run across and had runners on second and third.

Birth Question Asked In Atoms Conference

GENEVA, Aug. 13.—Can the birth of a single genius outweigh the birth of 99 mental defectives?

Sir Ernest Carling, a British doctor, raised the question today in an address to the atoms-for-peace conference.

He said if radiation in the atomic age ever actually produced a high level of mutations, or genetic changes, in the human race, beneficial effects might outweigh harmful effects in importance.

"To the nongeneticist it appears that for the benefit of the race as a whole in the future, one mutation genetic change which results in an Aristotle, a Leonardo, a Newton . . . Pasteur, an Einstein, might well outweigh 99 that led to mental defectives," he said.

Going back to school means the same to Central Missouri youngsters whether they are first graders, as the two shy young misses above, at Anderson School, South Highway 65 about six miles from Sedalia, or Smithton area students heading for their modern school recently completed in town. For both it means seeing many old friends almost daily for another school term; it means playing in the school yard and trying not to get caught whispering in class. But most of all it means getting an education to prepare them for their future in the good American tradition. This special edition is dedicated to these students in the outstate area. Watch for the Sedalia city Back-to-School Edition in two weeks.

School Clothing Is Termed 'A Way of Life' by Maker

NEW YORK (NEA)—College clothes are not a style. They are a way of life.

At least that's the opinion of Ephraim Witty, president of the large clothing company that bears his name.

And across the single-breasted, charcoal-gray, unpleated years, college styles have been a world all by themselves. They have also been the proving ground for styles that have later been modified and moved out into general men's wear.

The tattersall vest, once the campus coat of arms, two years ago was graduated to everyday wear. And this fall it will be appearing in jacket fabrics.

The blazer, once the college emblem, is out now for fall sports-wear in a varied hue of colors and stripes.

It is on the campus, too, that the natural look — unpadded and casual — is the everyday way of dressing.

The raglan sleeve, the bal collar, the fleecy wool sweater, the shetland wool jackets have their home in dormitory and classroom. And aside from new textures and color patterns, nothing is likely to change in college wear this fall.

Only in shoes and hats will there be any perceptible change. Taking their cue from Continental designers, American shoe manufacturers have come up with far more casual, far lighter shoes. Sides are going to be lower, and eyelets are dropping from the conventional five to two or three.

Hats, too, will be narrower, bands thinner and crowns lower.

While new synthetic fabrics will appear in shirts and in casual cold weather jackets, it will still be the sweater that will hold its popularity on the campus.

In shoes and hats as well, the campus can take credit for leading the way. Low-cut two-and-three-eyelet shoes have long been acceptable for school wear. So, too, have the low-cut, highly decorated loafers.

No school man in his right mind would be seen wearing high-crowned, broad-brimmed hats, either. It has long been the mode of the campus to wear a smaller rather than larger hat. And it is just this kind of headgear that will be appearing on suburban trains, city buses and taxis and on office hat racks this autumn.

FREEDOM comes to menswear. This tweed jacket has plenty of room, double vents in back and plenty of pocket room.

EASE with raglan shoulder is adapted to sports coats. Shetland wool, with brown velvet collar, has four button closing.

FIREMAN red with stripes and cuffs. Just the thing for sleep on cold nights. Of course, it's flannel.

SWEATERS are a way of life. Variations come with crew neck (above), "V" neck, cardigan, etc. Acceptable anywhere.

Calhoun District Retains Faculty From Last Year

Reorganized R-VIII will begin school Sept. 5.

At Calhoun School, Edgar A. Hino, superintendent and social studies, will teach, and Hollis S. Snare, principal, mathematics and commerce; Billy G. Crawford, coach and science; Mrs. Betty Matsinger, English; Mrs. Lucille Griffin, home economics and junior high mathematics; and Ernest Elgert, music.

Teaching at the Calhoun elementary school are Mrs. Fannie Ketchum, fifth and sixth grades; Mrs. Ollie Green, third and fourth; and Mrs. Genevieve Curtis, first and second grades.

At the rural elementary school are Mrs. Jessie Thompson, Bronaugh, and Mrs. Pearl Lowrey, George.

Improvements in the district include the sanding and finishing of the study hall floors and redecoration of the study hall as well as the halls on the first and second floor.

A new library corner has been added in the study hall and a new electric typewriter and other typewriters are additions in the commerce room. The district will have the same faculty as last year.

Sacrificial Captives
Mexico's ancient Aztecs used captives as human sacrifices to their gods. Often the prisoners lived in luxury and ceremonial splendor for a full year before the sacrificial ceremony.

To Have Four Buses This Year--

LaMonte Reorganized Schools to Begin Classes on Aug. 29; To Return by Noon

The LaMonte reorganized schools will begin the 1955-56 school year with enrollment on Aug. 29. The district will operate four school buses again this year.

These buses will pick up students for the first time on Aug. 29 with but few minor changes in the routes and schedules. Students will be returned to their homes by noon on that day.

The LaMonte board of education has employed the following teachers for the coming school year: first grade, Mrs. Elizabeth Higgins; second grade, Mrs. Emma Pearl Edmundson; third grade, Mrs. Pauline Boss; fourth grade, Mrs. Delores Anderson; fifth grade, Mrs. Bessie Dyer; sixth grade, Mrs. Jewel Fowler; seventh grade, Mrs. Sue Scott; eighth grade, Mrs. Miriam Hughes.

High school teachers employed to date include: Mrs. Ellen Hollenbeck, English and speech; Mrs. Lucille Revis, social science; Seifert McDaniel, physical education and industrial arts; Mrs. Alma Ruth Cripe, home economics and art; William Smith, commerce; Mrs. Anne Zumsteg, music at both high school and elementary; Alfred Brown, superintendent. A teacher of mathematics and science has not yet been employed.

Lunches will be served for the first time on Tuesday, Aug. 30. Mrs. Jo Patton will again be in charge of the lunch program and Mrs. Susie Butler and Mrs. Higgins Warren will be assistants in lunch preparation and serving.

Three bus drivers have been employed. They are Don Dillon, Billy Patterson and Junior Finley. One driver is yet to be hired. School custodian will be J. E. Noland who will have one assistant, Mrs. J. E. Noland.

An enrollment of approximately 300 students is anticipated and it is assumed that this enrollment will increase during the year. Numerous improvements are being made in the school building including new concrete stairs, additional storage facilities and several classrooms are being redecorated and improved.

It is suggested that parents and students watch for their respective buses the first day or two of school until the schedule becomes adjusted.

The board of education has a policy which admits children to the first grade on Aug. 29 who will be six years of age by the end of the first semester or Jan. 6, 1956.

Uranium Trouble

CARRIZOZO, N.M. (AP)—Uranium prospectors are getting in the hair of at least one oldtimer here.

He recently wrote the Lincoln County News he had paid taxes on his homestead for more than 30 years. "Received patent from the U. S. government in 1921. There was no demand for this land at that time. I fenced the land and built tanks for stock water. Now the uranium hunters have taken my place over, bulldozed holes all over the place and spooked the cattle away from water tanks. Just what can the poor homesteader expect from good old Uncle Sam?"

(Modern homesteaders acquire only surface rights to their land.)

More than 800,000 standard box cars would be required to load the annual U.S. production of paper and paperboard.

JEWELERS FOR FOUR GENERATIONS

Leisure Time Calls for New Sportswear

NEW YORK — (NEA) — Sportswear, whether worn in connection with sports or not, is the new mid-century necessity in a man's wardrobe. Man works to support his leisure, and he has now come to need special clothes for his newly found time.

Although the first thing that comes to mind are the sports-coat-and-gray flannel-slacks, new forms of relaxation have meant new kinds of colorful and less formal attire.

The main garment in the new group is the shirt jacket. Usually made of bright, patterned wool shirting flannel, the cut of this jacket is very casual. Van Heusen's "Shackett" takes the same material and blends orlon. Other makers use other blends.

Generally the shirt jacket is cut with a square bottom, similar to sport shirt, with side vents. The usual button front leads up to a notched collar and there are two breast and two lower pockets. A shirt-sleeve fastening is used.

Among the new short outer coats for sportswear this fall, plaids take the top billing. This is the useful jacket that students have worn for years and that older men find just right for shovelling snow, ice skating and other cold weather activities. Usually, this jacket has a zipper closing and may be reversible for foul weather.

The hip length coat, which started two years ago as purely suburban wear, will be seen more frequently downtown this year. It will appear in small - patterned wool tweeds, velours and fleeces in light colors. Cut single breasted with generous lower pockets, the suburban coat has been a campus favorite and is now moving into popularity with the older man for weekend trips to grocery and hardware store.

Still popular, of course, is the rayon sports shirt for fall. Avisco, one of the largest rayon producers, has come up with fabrics that are highly washable and color fast. This is the kind of shirt that has become acceptable for wear under a jacket.

Among sweaters, the crew neck or low turtle neck sweater is becoming a popular item as men discover that it can be worn over a shirt and tie — and with a jacket over it, the old warm-up look of the sweater disappears.

As in every other category of men's wear for this fall, the new color is green.

Two Syracusans Describe Trip to Europe, From England to Spain, Back to Holland

The following article is a summary written by Misses Gladys and Beatrice Evans on their educational tour of Europe. They are now spending the remainder of their vacation with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Evans, Syracuse. Gladys teaches at Independence and Beatrice at William and Mary College in Virginia.

On June 5 we joined 108 high school students, a few parents, friends and teachers in Quebec City to board the SS. Groote Boer for an educational tour of Europe. We arrived at Southampton, England, June 14 and motored by bus to London.

In London we visited the Tower of London where the British crown jewels are kept; Westminster Abbey, where kings and queens have been crowned for 1,000 years; Buckingham Palace and Windsor Castle. We did not get to visit inside Windsor Castle as the Queen was in residence there.

A side trip was made to the Stratford-on-Avon Shakespearean country where we visited the birthplace of William Shakespeare, the home of Ann Hathaway and the Holy Trinity Church where Shakespeare and his family were buried. Enroute to Stratford we stopped at Oxford and visited one of the oldest and largest of the colleges there.

The four days in England were very pleasant. The usual fog was lacking the countryside were green and cool and spring flowers were still in full bloom. We were sorry when it was time to leave.

On June 18 we toured down to Dover, boarded a channel steamer and landed at Ostend, Belgium. We were met by three buses which were to take us all through Europe. The road to Paris was paved with brick so one might imagine what the long bus ride was like. When we arrived in Paris it was 2:30 a.m. but from the hurry and number of people on the street one would have guessed it to be 8 or 9 p.m. in an American city.

In Paris we visited the Cathedral of Notre Dame; Napoleon's Tomb; the Arc de Triomphe, planned and begun by Napoleon as a monument to his armies. Today it is dedicated to all armies of France. Other interesting sights were the Eiffel Tower, the Louvre, the Opera and the Sacre-Coeur, a Roman-Byzantine basilican church which stands on the top of a high hill. From this point one can see 40 miles and thus see all of Paris.

While in Paris we made an excursion to Fontainebleau, the palace of Napoleon, and also to the Palace of Versailles.

From Paris we toured southward to Bordeaux, France, on our way to Spain. The country was beautiful. The farms, which average 20 acres per family, are neat and well tended. We often observed several women in each field doing the hoeing or planting while one man made furrows with a hoe or cut hay with a scythe. The houses are of stone with flowers everywhere. Near Bordeaux we saw oxen plodding before two-wheeled carts loaded with hay. We rested at Bordeaux, the wine growing and shipping center, one night. The next morning we toured toward the Spanish border over a straight narrow road bordered with tall turpentine pine. We later learned that this was the road over which Joseph Bonaparte, King of Spain, retreated to his brother, Napoleon, Emperor of France.

We crossed the Pyrenees Mountains, resting one night at a beautiful mountain resort hotel at the crest. As we drove farther south into Spain there was a decided change in scenery. The ground is barren mile after mile. There are a few adobe or stone huts, dirty children who play in the doorway and everything speaks plainly of poverty. This condition exists to the city limits of Madrid.

In Madrid the people were very well dressed and seem quite happy. There is much activity on the streets and it goes on until 3 or 4 a.m. Then the day shift takes over, so the city is never quiet.

We saw the points of interest in Madrid, the Royal palace, the University and a bullfight. Then we toured over the Sierra Nevada Mountains to Granada. There we visited the Alhambra, the old Moorish Palace. The palace and gardens were begun by Mohammed V in the early 13th century.

The people of Spain were wonderful to us. Madrid is a sophisticated city of wealth with a slant to the tourist trade. Valencia and Granada are quite different and Barcelona is more commercial and modern than any of the preceding cities. In Spain people take their time. Dinner is served at 9 p.m. or if special at 11 p.m. Breakfast is at 10 a.m. Stores close for a two or three-hour siesta (rest or sleep) every afternoon. Children attend school six days a week. They start at 8 a.m., stay until 12, go home for siesta, and return to school from 4 to 6 p.m.

Spain was interesting but certainly different from anything seen elsewhere. It is barren, hot and desolate in many parts. We saw many oxen and little machinery. In many places grain is threshed by tramping horses or very crude machinery at threshing centers in small villages.

Our stay in Switzerland and Holland was too short, one night in Berne and one in The Hague. We saw the usual places of interest, the League of Nations building in Geneva, the Peace Palace in The Hague. The scenery in Switzerland was the most enjoyable of all countries, especially the snow-capped mountains and the drive along Lake Geneva.

Our foreign journey came to an end at Rotterdam where we embarked on the S.S. Waterman, July 6. We disembarked at Montreal July 15 and arrived at Independence, Mo., July 19.

One District Less for 1955-56--

Describe Financial Condition Of Pettis County Rural Schools

During the 1954-55 school year the number of common school three-director districts in Pettis County was lowered from 20 to 19. This change was brought about by the annexation of Maplewood District to the Smithton Reorganized District. Therefore the following comparison of total financial figures is a comparison of 19 district this year as against 20 districts a year ago. Even with the loss of one district's receipts the total receipts of the remaining districts show an increase over the preceding year.

The 19 common school districts began the school year with a combined balance of $41,798.42 in all funds. They closed the school year with a total balance of $45,870.42. Total receipts this year were $86,440.96 as compared with receipts of $78,471.55 for the year before. The 19 districts spent $82,868.96, while in 1953-54 the 20 districts spent $84,424.39.

Some increase in teachers' salaries is shown between the two years. In 1953-54 the 17 operating school districts paid a total of $38,251.77 for teacher salaries. There were 16 operating schools in 1954-55, and they paid a salary total of $39,588.23. The auxiliary services expense decreased from $30,924.13 last year to $27,188.24 for this year.

Had Maplewood School figures been included this year the amount would probably have shown some increase, inasmuch as the category of auxiliary expense included such things as school lunch, activity expense, and tuition and transportation of high school and elementary pupils, and Maplewood School was transporting both elementary and high school pupils.

Expenditures for textbooks and teaching materials showed a slight drop from $2,859.11 to $2,832.14; but operating expense was up from $3,971.24 to $4,917.22. Capital outlay expense also increased, the figures being $1,482.71 for 1953-54 and $1,727.28 for the year just ended.

In this capital outlay expense were included a modern gas heat-

Teachers Planning Meeting on Aug. 30

The Pettis County teachers will have their annual pre-school plan meeting on Thursday, Aug. 30. The meeting will be held in the assembly room on the first floor of the courthouse.

Participating on the program will be the state school supervisor for this district, Ray T. Evans, Osceola; the conservation education advisor, Jack Reed, Warrensburg; the chairman of the Sedalia District of Parent-Teacher Associations, Mrs. R. G. Carney, Lincoln; and the president of the Pettis County Community Teachers' Association, Mrs. Gladys Leiter, who will report on the Leadership Conference held at Bunker Hill Ranch, Mountain View, Mo.

Packets of supplies will be distributed to teachers at the meeting.

REAL SPACE MEN—Two Air Force officers are preparing to set some jumping records. In doing so, Lt. Henry P. Nielson, left, and Capt. Edward G. Sperry may go to greater heights than man has yet ascended—possibly 90,000 feet. They'll make six flights in a balloon over New Mexico. At the peak of each flight one of the two will cut loose for a free fall, keeping his parachute closed until near the earth's surface. The other will ride the gondola down to 20,000 feet, then jump. Results of their endeavor are expected to aid designers of an ejection seat for high-flying jets.

When School Bells Ring

When school bells start to ring
And vacation time is o'er
When you hear the birds a-singing
Through the window or the door,
Seems its hard to turn your mind to
Such things as school and books,
Lessons that have been assigned you —
'Tis hard to wade in the brooks;
The days are getting shorter
As the summer slips away,
And I sit beside the water
And just watch the fishes play,
I've tried to study 'rithmetic
But I must figure wrong,
Vacation always ends so quick;
The school term seems so long;
And when it comes to readin' — look —
I like to do my own,
I'll only read a comic book
I'll bet — when I am grown.
"Your writin'" teacher says to me
"Is just a great big scrawl!"
Why I can't write she cannot see,
She can't read it at all;
But my best girl across the aisle,
To which last year I wrote,
Can read it, 'cause she'd nod and smile
And answer every note,
Then spellin'—well, I'm just not tops,
But there's one thing I'm certain of,
The day vacation really stops —
That's the ringin' of those bells —
And so, down the road I'll go
To school — of course not happily —
But I'll be awfully glad to know
This year who sits across from me.
Hazel N. Lang.

County Teachers Have High Total Average Of Work Experience

Of the 33 rural area teachers employed for Pettis County schools to date, only two are beginning teachers. The remaining 31 teachers have amassed a total of 470 years of teaching experience, an average of 15-plus years per teacher. One of the 31 has over 40 years of rural and village school experience. Five more have over 30 years of experience. Only seven have less than five years teaching background.

Four of the 32 teachers have college degrees in the field of education. Twenty-five have more than 60 college hours or the equivalent of over two years of college training. The remaining four have between one and two years of college work. At least 16 teachers have earned some additional college credit this summer.

Two rural schools have not as yet contracted with teachers for the coming year.

Stover Looks Forward to Better Facilities With New Buildings

Morgan County School District R-1, Stover, has scheduled opening of all classrooms for Aug. 29, 1955. The first day of school will comprise enrollment of all students, assignment of textbooks and lessons. This process will be completed by noon, at which time buses will operate to return pupils to their homes. The afternoon will be devoted to a faculty meeting and an analysis of classes and pupils.

The school system will be headed by Jesse E. Walters, who is beginning his second year in the district. With one exception the high school faculty will be the same as last year. David M. Wilson is high school principal and teaches English; Milton Arnold will coach all athletics and teach physical education; Leo Jones will teach math and science; Hugh Wilson will teach industrial arts; Evelyn Alpers will again teach commerce, and Naomi Stevinson will teach music.

At the present time a vacancy exists in the social studies department, created by the resignation recently of Eugene Oliver who accepted a like position in Harrisonville.

The elementary teachers and classes they will teach are as follows:

Anna Eldenburg, seventh and eighth at Stover; Christine Short, fifth and sixth at Stover; Nellie Mae Rastorfer, third and fourth at Stover; Erna Tagtmeyer, first and second at Stover; Earl Born, upper grades at Florence; Leonora Lewis, lower grades at Florence; Agnes Wray, one-room school at Martin; Marie Gerhart, one-room school at Haw Creek; Gladys Carver, one-room school at Pleasant Grove; Charles DeJarnette, one-room school at Proctor; and Jane Downing, a one-room school at Brushy.

Other personnel of the system include Phyllis Franklin, school secretary; Gregg Combs and Deo Warnke, custodians; and Arthur Short, garage mechanic.

There will be 15 buses operating to transport pupils from their homes to the various school rooms. The expected enrollment is about 525, 160 in high school and 365 in elementary school.

District R-1 is embarking on an extensive building program this fall. Contracts are scheduled to be let on Sept. 7, 1955, for an eight-room elementary unit with cafeteria in the basement and an auditorium-gymnasium with full size basketball court, lockers, showers, dressing rooms, classrooms, music department, office, health room and storage rooms.

These buildings will be built on the present school site at the north edge of Stover and will serve the entire district with the exception of the Florence area. The present Florence building will be remodeled and modernized into a two-classroom building with play room and cafeteria.

The superintendent, faculty and community are looking forward to a successful school year in which many new and up-to-date facilities will be realized, as the new plant should be ready for occupancy by the opening of school in Sept., 1956.

Rural School Enrollment Up Over 54-55

The rural school enrollment of Pettis County, just as elsewhere in the nation, is showing some steep increases. The problem has become acute in only a few districts, but the total county enrollment is rising.

Two rural districts have found it necessary to employ an additional teacher this year to cope with the larger number of pupils. High Point School, on the south edge of Sedalia, has experienced the greatest increase, and has found it necessary to install a classroom in the school basement and to employ a third teacher. High Point has previously had a two-room school, although last year a part-time teacher was employed in the early winter to help the primary teacher with the 42 pupils who were enrolled in the first three grades. For 1955-56 one teacher will teach first and second grades, another will have third and fourth grades, and the third teacher will have the upper four grades. Liberty School is the other rural school which has added a teacher for the coming year. This schoolroom was enlarged several years ago when the enrollment was high, and the school board is putting in a partition so that the teachers can have separate classrooms.

Georgetown is another district which has experienced a considerable increase in enrollment during the past several years. About four years ago it became necessary to employ a second teacher and divide the grades of this school. Since the enrollment is especially heavy in the primary grades, one teacher has taught the first three grades, while the other teacher has the upper five grades.

Although some rural schools have lost enrollment, due to population shifts, the total enrollment in the rural part of Pettis County has shown a definite rise each year for the past several years.

Dead Leaves Under Favorite Shade Tree Often Natural

By L. E. McCormick
MU Extension Forester

Every home owner, whether in a city or on a farm, values his shade trees highly. Consequently, many people become panic stricken if they observe a few dead leaves in the crown or on the ground under a favorite shade tree. They immediately gather some of the dead leaves and take them to the county agent or mail them to the University for diagnosis of the ailment.

Smithton Has New Teacher For Musicians

By B. B. Ihrig

Smithton schools will open Sept. 6. The teachers will report on Monday for short meetings and registration of students will be on the Tuesday following.

Supt. Paul S. McKee has been in the office during the summer and has about completed all work and organization in readiness for the opening of school. The floors have been revarnished by the custodians, Mr. Albert Smith, and Mr. Pollard Wood, throughout the entire plant, and all window casings and wood work painted where necessary in the old building.

Les Miller, Jake Klein, John McMullin, Jewel Adams and Pollard Wood have been employed as bus drivers, and there is another driver yet to be selected.

Mrs. John Daniel, Mrs. Othel Griffith and Mrs. Harold Bacher will be in charge of the school lunch room.

Harold Johnston has recently been employed as music teacher. He will teach both instrumental and vocal. He has special training in strings and it is hoped that the school orchestra will be revived and enough students become interested in this phase of music to make it worthwhile to offer in the curriculum.

All other teachers have been employed as given in a previous item, except a teacher of girls' physical education, who is yet to be selected.

Classes in all grades have been estimated except for the first grade and it now appears that it may be necessary to employ another first grade teacher if the enrollment reaches more than that of last year.

Since tentative plans can be made only on last year's enrollment, it would be desirable for all students who have not been in attendance before, to enroll before the beginning of school.

Sunnyside to Open Sept. 5 at 9 a. m.

Sunnyside School will open Monday morning, Sept. 5, at 9 a. m. until 10:30 for the 1955-56 enrollment.

Mrs. Helen Shepherd has been rehired as teacher and Mrs. James Stephens is cook for the year.

Enthusiastic Recruit

RICHMOND, Va. (AP) — The Air Force will have a hard time finding a more enthusiastic recruit than Norman Sutherland, 18, a Scot.

Sutherland has wanted to join the U. S. Air Force since he was 10. When he reached 16 he wrote the mayor of Richmond, then Dr. E. E. Haddock, about it. He was advised of the requirements and the necessity for a sponsor. Parents prevailed on him to wait until he was 18. He did and he still wanted to join. He wrote Mayor Thomas P. Bryan, Bryan turned the letter over to Maj. William E. Morgan of the recruiting service. Maj. Morgan became sponsor.

Sutherland said he held two jobs and worked 85 hours a week to get the money for his passage from Scotland.

VANISHING AMERICANA—A sight once common on farms of America but unseen by many of today's younger generation is the old-time threshing machine, center, being put to work in a field of oats near Independence, Kan., with power supplied by another near antique—a 1936 tractor, left. H. H. and E. H. Wingard put the old 28-inch Red River Special to use on a crop too wet to harvest with a combine, which they had cut with a binder.

Addition to Building Completed— Hughesville Schools Increase Facilities, Number of Courses

The Hughesville Schools of Reorganized District R-II will open Aug. 29 this year. The buses will run the routes nearly the same as last year with only minor changes.

Pupils are urged to be ready early and watch for their bus the first morning. After the first trip, each pupil will know about what time to expect the bus.

On the opening day, pupils will be registered and returned to their homes by noon. The first lunch will be served in the cafeteria on Tuesday, Aug. 30.

The Hughesville children will enjoy much improved facilities over those provided at the opening of school last year. The new elementary addition is completed with three modern classrooms, health room, office and rest rooms.

The seating space in the auditorium-gymnasium is enlarged and the older rooms redecorated. A completely new heating plant for the entire building is ready for use.

It is a dual system using both hot water radiation and hot air. Air is forced to all the rooms so that it is completely changed every few minutes and automatic controls hold the temperature at a constant level.

Two new courses will be added this year. A class in crafts will be added to the shop curriculum. This course will include work in leather, jewelry, ceramics, weaving and other related arts.

This course will be open to both boys and girls. Work in metals will be added to the woodwork classes to round out the industrial arts program.

A course called General Business will be added in the commerce department and will be offered to sophomores. It will acquaint student with various transactions in the business world and serve as an introduction to the field of commerce.

The teaching staff in the elementary schools is: Mrs. L. M. McKeehan, first grade; Mrs. Lageta Neil, second grade; third grade to be supplied; Mrs. Paul Sanders, fourth grade; Frank Diefendorf, Jr., fifth and sixth grades; and Loretta Schroeder, seventh and eighth grades.

High school teachers are: Goldilee Kissinger, English and citizenship; Mrs. Rosalee Smith, home economics and history; Mrs. Clayta Callis, commerce and mathematics; Mrs. Frances Sparks, music; Everett Green, shop and physical education; and Paul J. Vannatta, superintendent and science teacher.

The board of education is made up of Robert McCurdy, president; Harold Williams, vice-president; Dan Smith, secretary; David Powell, treasurer; Das McClure and Leonard DeBoard.

Bus drivers this year are Edward Callis, Jr., Everett Green, Edmond (Dutch) Martin and Wesley Newton.

Cafeteria employees are Mrs. Loretta Rhine and Mrs. Thelma Edwards. Harvey Weathers is custodian.

Beauty Meets Criticized On Their Methods

By JAMES BACON
(For Bob Thomas)

HOLLYWOOD — Jon Hall is one male who personally is fed up with the overemphasis on the measurements of beauty queens and movie glamor girls.

He says the best way to counteract what he terms "too much bosom-consciousness" is for male stars to publicize their measurements. Hall, incidentally, has a 44-inch chest.

It's gotten so that Jon knows the hip, waist and bust measurements of movie queens and beauty contest winners better than he knows their names.

"The only other place where people are so numerically identified is the clinic," he quips.

Seriously, Hall believes that the overemphasis on bust measurements is creating a serious moral and often a serious inferiority problem among adolescents.

"Modesty, I fear, has become old-fashioned," he laments.

He thinks male stars could do a real service with publicity on their measurements.

"It would kill the 'perfect 36' right out of its cheesecake," he comments.

He gets strong backing from actress Linda Danson, his girl friend.

"Why," adds Linda, "salesladies in dress shops have told me that 10 and 12-year-old girls often shop for fashions."

Hall, careerwise, is the richest unemployed actor in the business. He goes to parties and producers alap him on the back congratulating him on the success of his "Ramar of the Jungle" TV series which is seen nightly all over the country.

Actually, he hasn't made a new one of these in two years. Plans are under way to film more but Hall believes the success of reruns could stymie this.

What does he do with his time? "I spend much of it doing benefits, or playing the new type of vaudeville for TV stars."

The new "vaudeville" is traveling around to department stores plugging Ramar merchandise. That's where the big money is.

"Believe it or not," he says, "I have been to Hess Brothers in Al-

Gets Basic Training

Pvt. Billy D. Oetting, son of Louis Oetting, Concordia, is receiving basic training at Fort Knox, Ky., as a member of the 3d Armored Division.

The "Spearhead" division, formerly a training unit at the Armored Center, recently was reorganized into a combat-ready unit. Pvt. Oetting, a member of Company B in the division's 65th Armored Field Artillery Battalion entered the Army in July, 1955.

He was graduated from Concordia High School in 1955.

Pageant Will Mark Windsor Centennial

A pageant depicting the story of Windsor's first 100 years and including a cast of 120 persons, will be one of the big highlights of the Centennial celebration there Aug. 31, Sept. 1, 2 and 3.

The pageant, entitled, "Historical Revue," written and produced locally, will be presented on the second and fourth nights during the 4-day program in the high school auditorium. The complete production will be given each of the two nights.

There will be nine scenes, each of which features an important period of the community's life during the past century. A chorus of 25 persons will compose a choir for religious scenes and background music for the entire production.

The pageant has been written by a committee headed by Mrs. R. L. Irvine and including Mrs. William Merryfield, Mrs. L. T. Hoback, Miss Josephine Henry, Mrs. William Krogh, Mrs. Russell Gardner, Miss Barbara Kibler, Mrs. W. C. Boney, Mrs. Lizzie Brown, Mrs. Ellis Huston, Mrs. Alveus T. Bradley, Mrs. Harry Ordway and Marion Craig.

The scenes are: 1—The Birth of Windsor; 2—Windsor in the Civil War; 3—Fight for Meadow County; 4—Ordinance No. 6; 5—Windsor Schools; 6—Chautauqua; 7—Religion in Windsor; 8—Twenty Fingers of Rhythm; and 9—Fashion Finale.

The three narrators will be Mrs. William Turner, Dr. William Crow lenton, Pa., six times in the last four months. And that's only a city of about 150,000."

Orson Bean, left, and Tommy Noonan are reacting excitedly to beautiful Sheree North in the madcap romantic comedy, "How To Be Very, Very Popular," in CinemaScope with color by DeLuxe, now playing through Wednesday at the Fox Theatre. Also starred in this comedy sensation are Betty Grable, Bob Cummings, and Charles Coburn.

and Harry E. Rains.

Prof. James O. Fetters will direct the music and Mrs. John Lewis is chairman of the costumes committee. Marion Craig is in charge of stage properties and Robert Huston will direct the sound effects. Scenery and stage decorations will be headed by Ralph Bradley.

Several activities for the Centennial began shaping up during the past week. Preparations for the rodeo Sept. 2 have been completed and volunteers are now at work erecting permanent rodeo chutes and pens at the Fairgrounds. A shetland pony will be given away during the program that night.

A souvenir booklet is being prepared by a committee headed by Gerald B. Graham, publicity chairman, to be sold during the Centennial to help defray expenses for the program.

LANING, Mich. — A new state law clears the way for construction of an international auto bridge or tunnel between Sault Ste. Marie, Mich., and Sault Ste. Marie, Ont.

The measure clearly separates U.S. and Canadian ownership of the bridge or tunnel at the international boundary line and removes an earlier provision in similar legislation that would have required abandonment of an international railroad bridge.

St. Louis Police Arrest Twelve Youths

ST. LOUIS (AP)—Police said the arrest of 12 youths yesterday has cleared up a wave of burglaries and petty thefts in the west end of St. Louis.

They said the boys, all 16 years old or younger, have admitted 18 burglaries and 105 thefts during the past three months.

The arrests started on a hunch of Probationary Patrolman Joseph L. Spiess who started talking with one boy about the crime wave and soon had the youth telling about his part and naming the others involved.

Police said they have recovered $175 in cash plus numerous radios, electric fans and clothing.

Picnic Announced--

Mrs. Wade Tells Optimists Every Life Writes a Book

An inspiring talk on "Your Book" was given by Mrs. A. B. Wade Tuesday noon at Bothwell Hotel at the joint meeting of the Optimist Club and the Opti-Mrs. Club.

Each of us, said Mrs. Wade, is writing a book in which we are recording our experiences day by day. There are dark spots in each book, of course, but there are many bright spots and since we realize we are writing a book we should try to make bright as many pages as there are left.

Mrs. Wade quoted from Thomas Carlyle: "Happy is the man who has found his work." Then she told the story of Nehemiah, who was the cup bearer to the king. One day when someone came from Jerusalem and told Nehemiah about the walls of the city being almost down, he was very sad. The king, noting his sadness, asked him what was the matter and Nehemiah told him, so he sent him to rebuild the walls. Nehemiah was a wonderful leader and a follower as well. From the Bible she quoted again: "People had a mind to work and the wall was built in 52 days." Nehemiah had a job to do and he did it.

Another story was that of Thomas Carlyle who worked long and hard writing a manuscript and when he had finished it and had it ready for the publisher the maid burned it. He was very unhappy about it and never did anything after that except take walks brooding over his manuscript. One day he saw a bricklayer at work. It seemed it was almost with love that the bricklayer put the cement on the bricks and placed other bricks on top. He would work awhile and then step back and view his work. Carlyle watched and from the bricklayer he learned a lesson. He went back home and wrote another and better manuscript.

But doing a job well, Mrs. Wade pointed out, does not only apply to humans. Sometimes you can learn a great deal from animals. She told the story of a horse they had when she was growing up, a horse named Charlie. Her father wanted this horse broken in right, so he hired some boys who were top in that field to break Charlie in without whips. When they went up to the horse he just stood there and finally the smallest one of the boys got on and Charlie just trotted off. When they started to put the saddle on him, they used a pitchfork to slip it on but Charlie merely stood there as the saddle slid in place. A long time later a man came to buy Charlie and Mrs. Wade said she remembered her father saying to the man: "Charlie works well, he will work in the harness or out, on either side, alone or together, in town or in the country — he is kind, gentle, Charlie is a thoroughbred" and then her father looked at the man and said: "Charlie's not for sale." Charlie, too, did his job well.

And so, said Mrs. Wade, have a page in your book for knocks, for there will be knocks; a page for joy in doing a job well; a page to give praise and this she said was important, a man should not forget a little praise for his wife now and then, his children, whose lives center around his; and for the mother, she is the hub of the wheel, let her not sigh and complain of all the work she must do for her family — for said Mrs. Wade, speaking from experience these pages are written too soon; and then she added on every page thank God for the good things he has given.

Mrs. Wade was introduced by Gerald Cecil, program chairman. The meeting was presided over by Charles Hurr, with invocation by J. W. Watts, Charles Hanna led the singing with Miss Lillian Fox at the piano.

Guests introduced were Mrs. Virgil Gilbert, Kansas City, sister of Charles Hurr, his mother, Mrs. J. P. Hurr and James Reed, guest of Judge Dimmitt Hoffman.

Mrs. Anna Bagby, chairman of the Good Will committee of the Chamber of Commerce, announced the picnic for the Sedalia Air Force Men which will be held Tuesday, Aug. 16, at 6:30 p. m. at Liberty Park. Mrs. Bagby asked Optimist members and their wives to be there with well filled baskets.

The next meeting Optimists will have as their guests the Optimist Little League Team.

Teachers Meet On Aug. 29 At Lincoln

District R-2 of Benton County, Lincoln, plans to start school Aug. 29, 1955, with a teacher's meeting.

Students will report for the first day of school on Tuesday, Aug. 30. Buses will run on regular schedules on Tuesday. Bus routes and time schedules will be mailed to parents who have children to be transported.

Buses will run early Tuesday evening to return children from the first day of school after they have been enrolled, received schedules of classes, and been issued a list of supplies needed for various classes.

The faculty for the 1955-56 school year is as follows: Ray Nelson, superintendent; Avis Lee Cannon, commerce, high school principal; Robert Gosser, industrial arts; Dorothy Brady, music; Joe Goodman, physical education; Nora Brisley, English; Helen Brill, Mathematics; Gladys Dennis, social studies; Helen Brown, Junior high; George Kugler, elementary principal; Mildred Eickholz, sixth grade; Opal Williams, fifth grade; Bethel Shipman, fourth grade; Myrtle Still, third grade; Bernice Cole, second grade; Marie Rambow, first grade and Mildred Bridgewater, Rocky Dale.

Emil Meyer and Mrs. Meyer will be custodians. Lincoln R-2 is still in need of a Home Economics teacher.

Leo Hare and Ed Meuschke will each operate three buses for the district this year.

Sign of Trouble

SOUTH CHARLESTON, W. Va. — Grocer John Ray a Republican, was peeved with the city's Democratic administration anyway. When a "no parking" sign appeared in front of his store, he boiled over—uprooted the sign and heaved it into an empty lot.

GOP Mayor Joseph W. Londerec said a stenographic error in the minutes of a council meeting put the sign in the wrong spot.

"That still doesn't justify Ray's taking the law into his own hands," he said. "There's no politics involved. I don't even know the gentleman."

Add Three to Bus Fleet System--

Half-Million Dollar High School Plant To Be Ready for R-II '56 School Term

A new half-million dollar high school plant, complete, will be started for Morgan County R-II Public School district at Versailles around Sept. 1. It is expected to be completed and ready for use by Sept. 1, 1956.

The present high school building will be converted to part of the district's elementary facilities.

Three new buses have been added to the fleet this summer so that routes will be relocated to more adequately service the students to the respective buildings.

This brings the total to eight district-owned 48-passenger units for transportation. The district also contracts one 48-passenger bus and two panel trucks.

Enrollment is anticipated to be 325 for the high school and about 700 in the elementary schools for a slight increase over 1954-55.

The district will operate an 11-teacher elementary school in Versailles, a four-teacher elementary attendance unit at Gravois Mills, and 12 one-room attendance units for elementary students throughout the district.

One centrally located high school in Versailles will serve all grades nine through twelve students.

The Board of Education is made up of D. K. Hunter, president; Elam Carlson, vice president; Ivan Loganbill, J. B. McLennan, Paul Washburn, Roy Berkstresser, J. H. Knopp, secretary; and E. W. Guenther, treasurer. Earl Whitaker is superintendent of schools.

Dick Simpson is high school principal and Joe Kimbrell is elementary principal.

The schools will open Tuesday, Sept. 6, with the following teaching personnel:

High School: Ann Marriott, mathematics; Lavera Lahman, social studies and library; Sarah Roth, social studies and speech; Anna Kimbrell, English and literature; Genevieve Kearney, English and German; Doris Lading, social studies and the annual; Cora Waid, vocational home economics; Andy White, vocational economics; Hal Loughary, physical education and coach; Johanna McDonald, sciences; Dick Simpson will teach driver education and Maurice LaRue will teach music.

In the elementary schools, Bonnelle White, Helen Bass, Estelle Moon, Wilma Lampton, Jenny Jones, Anna Kidwell, Emma Hart, Mary Pyle, Donna Ward, Nadyne McDonald, Ruth Bond, Marie Hilderbrand, Susie Thurston and Marion Dolstein.

Also on the elementary faculties are Blanche Kruse, Paddy Kidwell, Adelia Hutchinson, Harriette Jones, Agnes Jenkins, Arrena Campbell, Jane Campbell, Inez Stevens, Arleen Kidwell, Cloie Hite, Alma Lahman, Ruby Cox, Woodrow Hildebrand and Ruth Warren.

The custodial crew of Glenn Stokes, Henry Earnest, James Bonine and Arthur Aures have spent the summer on the various buildings in good condition for the opening of school.

Dazzling Dahlias Grown at Smithton

Two of Smithton's business men have a very interesting hobby. Both are interested in the growing of dahlias. Victor Hoehns, of the Hoehns Hardware Store, has a field of approximately 900 plants in the east part of town. However insect pests and lack of water have caused the plants to be somewhat stunted and smaller flowers. Last year Mr. Hoehns had some of the largest and best varieties to be found anywhere.

Elroy Lemke, of the Lemke Grocery is also a flower grower. He has had around 1500 plants but these too have not been up to last year's production. Mr. Lemke also had 200 gladiolus plants earlier. This garden is on West Main there and civic minded residents hope that more people in the community will become interested in a project that contributes so much to the beauty of the town.
